DOWN AND OUT FOR HUERTA SOON

Predictions of Dictator's Fall Within Two Weeks Made by Refugees

POLICE INSUBORDINATE; HIS TROOPS DISLOYAL

Dutch Flag on Barge Shot at—But Two Americans Now Left in Tampico

VERA CRUZ, May 7.—The dethronement of Huerta's government within a fortnight, was predicted today by the latest refugees from the capital. They confidently asserted that the United States will get knee deep in mediation proceedings only to find that Huerta has lost his power to bargain for Mexico and another president will have to be dealt with. The Huerta government is already growing lax, the police are insubordinate and criminals are running riot.

The loyalty of the troops is doubted. A Tampico message says but two Americans remain there. Both are oil men. The rebels there fired on a barge flying a Dutch flag in the Pamlico river, killing one and wounding seven federalists aboard the barge. Fighting continues today around Tampico.

600 AMERICANS LEAVE MEXICO CITY TODAY

Under the protection of the Brazilian flag, and accompanied by the Brazilian Consul, a "refugee" train bearing 600 Americans, left Mexico City for Puerto Mexico, today, according to a message received by the State Department. Among the passengers was Dr. Edward Ryan, the State Department and Red Cross agent who was lately saved from execution as a spy at Zacatecas.

REBEL AVIATOR DROPS BOMBS AT MAZATLAN

Admiral Howard has reported to the Navy Department that a rebel aviator dropped two bombs from an aeroplane into Mazatlan yesterday, killing three people and wounding eight. Because it involved danger to foreigners, Admiral Howard and the German commander at Mazatlan, protested to the rebel commander, asking a neutral zone for foreigners. It is expected he will reply tonight. Fighting between rebels and federalists is progressing.

NO CONFIRMATION OF THE CAPTURE OF MAZATLAN

No confirmation has yet received of the reports made through constitutionalist consultants that the rebels have taken Mazatlan. The fall of the port, however, was expected.

SEES BURGLAR PRYING OPEN HIS WINDOW

J. H. Wilkins Watches Man Using Jimmy—Yells Scare Him Away

A burglar made a hasty retreat from 2034 North Bush street this morning about 2:30 o'clock. He was attempting to force an entrance into the home of J. H. Wilkins when Wilkins yelled at him.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins were asleep when Mrs. Wilkins was awakened by hearing a noise at a window in an adjoining room. She awakened Wilkins, and Wilkins slipped quietly to a window, from which he could see a man at work at a screen.

Wilkins had a revolver in a drawer in his room, but it was not loaded, and he had no cartridges in the house for it.

Wilkins watched the man at work with a jimmy. Wilkins yelled at the fellow to get out, and the fellow ran like a frightened rabbit, keeping in the shadow as much as possible.

The night watchmen were called, and a search of the vicinity brought no results. The officers arrested a Mexican who was found sleeping in a box car, but hardly think he had anything to do with the attempted burglary.

None of the players boasts of less than 60 years.

VILLA TO PLANT A MASTER STROKE

Plans to Capture Ten Thousand Mexican Federalists Bottled Up at Saltillo

REBEL CORDON THROWN AROUND THE FEDERALISTS

Rebels Overwhelmingly Strong; 5000 U. S. Troops Parade at Ft. Bliss Friday

LOS ANGELES, May 7.—A dispatch from Secretary of Foreign Affairs Fabela of the Carranza cabinet to Adolfo Carrillo, Constitutionalist consul here, says the Mexican federalists surrendered at Mazatlan to the rebels today. The dispatch said that fighting there had concluded, although the federalists were occasionally firing as the rebels drive them through the streets of the city.

VILLA PLANS TO CAPTURE 10,000 FEDERALISTS SALTILLO

EL PASO, May 7.—Villa is known today to be planning a master stroke by the capture of the 10,000 federalists concentrated at Saltillo. He is personally commanding a brigade approaching the city from the west. General Gonzales is approaching Saltillo from the east. Escape to the south is cut off by Generals Benavides and Herrera, stationed before San Luis Potosi. The rebels are concentrating in overwhelming strength. There seems but little possibility that the federalists will be able to cut their way through the rebel cordon.

A parade of 5000 American troops at Fort Bliss is scheduled for tomorrow.

HUERTA ASKS REBEL HEADS TO DEFINE THEIR STAND

SAN DIEGO, May 7.—Huerta has notified almost every rebel commander that the United States is planning intervention and has asked what stand they will take in such event, according to passengers arriving here today on the Mexican steamer "Benito Juarez" from the west Mexican coast. The steamer brought no refugees, the Mexican officers refusing to carry passengers without full fare. Three Americans who came from Ensenada reported all quiet there.

General Oregon, commanding the rebels outside Guaymas, is reported to have notified Huerta that he is "a Mexican first and second a Constitutionalist," indicating that he would join against the Americans in the event of invasion.

MISS ELEANOR WILSON ON LAST SHOPPING TRIP WITH UNCLE BEFORE WEDDING

ELEANOR WILSON WHITE HOUSE BRIDE

Fourteenth to Plight Vows in Historic Mansion—Famous Blue Room Used

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The simplest ceremonies today will mark the fourteenth White House wedding and the second of the Wilson administration. Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, youngest daughter of the President, will be married to William Gibbs McAdoo, secretary of the treasury. Only members of the immediate family of the bride and the groom and McAdoo's colleagues in the cabinet with the Vice President and Mrs. Marshall will be present. There is to be none of the pomp and ceremony which attended the marriage last November of Miss Jessie Wilson to Francis Bowes Sayre. The fact that the groom was a widower influenced this decision.

The ceremony will take place in the Blue Room, where Miss Francis Folsom was wedded to President Cleveland. The nuptials will be almost identical with those of the Cleveland wedding. It, too, was a private affair, with only a dozen or so invited guests. President and Mrs. Wilson have always maintained that the affairs of the woman-folk of the White House were not public business and so up until today practically no information was given out as to the wedding.

Secretary McAdoo, the groom, is 51 years of age. He has six children living and one grandchild. Miss Wilson is 24 years old. She is the most vivacious of the President's three daughters. She first met Secretary McAdoo while he was acting chairman of the Democratic National Committee and came to the "summer White House" at Sea Girt to confer with the then Democratic presidential candidate. Both Miss Wilson and McAdoo had much in common. Both were fond of tennis. They enjoyed dancing the new style dances. Their acquaintanceship at Sea Girt ripened here in Washington when McAdoo became one of the President's advisers. The two were constantly together. Miss Noma McAdoo, one of the secretary's daughters who is a year or so younger than Miss Wilson, was her constant companion. They took long automobile drives and walks together and McAdoo was Miss Wilson's favored dancing partner.

True to the Wilson tradition that thirteen, the hoodoo number was their "good luck" numeral, the engagement of Miss Wilson and the secretary was announced on March 13. That day was also Friday and friends of the Wilson family laughingly observed that an especially fortunate date had been selected for the announcement, from the Wilson standpoint.

Miss Wilson began the preparation of her trousseau immediately following the announcement of her engagement. She shopped in New York for several days, Secretary McAdoo accompanying her several times.

An expert needlewoman, she did a lot of work in fixing the trousseau herself, aided by Miss Margaret Wilson. Mrs. Wilson, who suffered a nervous shock from a fall a month or more ago, has been too ill to assist. It was partly because of her indisposition that the private wedding was held. Miss Eleanor, it is understood had hoped to have a wedding with "all the fuss and feathers," as she was quoted as expressing it, of her sister, Mrs. Sayre. It is believed a honeymoon trip will be made to Europe.

TRIUMPH OF REBEL ARMS AIDS U. S.

Administration Cheered by Recent Successes in Northern Mexico

SECRETARY OF INTERIOR LANE MAY BE MEDIATOR

State Department Hears of Rebels' Victory at Mazatlan But Rumor Unconfirmed

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Rebel successes in north Mexico are beginning to clear the Mexican-American atmosphere today. The Washington administration is confident that Huerta will be eliminated safely or be deposed by his followers as soon as the rebel conquest of the northern Mexican states is complete. The indications point that way this afternoon. Gen. Carranza's secretary, Senor Zubaran, wired a repetition of his chief's assertion that Saltillo, San Luis Potosi and Tampico will be in the hands of the rebels within a week. He reiterated a denial of the report of any differences between Villa and Carranza.

President Wilson is still considering who to appoint to represent America before the peace mediators. Secretary of the Interior Lane will probably be named if he can leave his department duties.

O'SHAUGHNESSY ARRIVES; STORMY TIME EXPECTED

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Nelson O'Shaughnessy arrived today from Mexico City. It was understood he would report to Secretary Bryan this afternoon, but he refused to specify any time. It is generally believed that the administration is hostile to O'Shaughnessy, and the meeting is expected to be a stormy one. He sees President Wilson tomorrow.

It is understood today that John Bassett Moore and Hannis Taylor, mentioned as probable mediators in the Mexican peace negotiations, will not be appointed. Secretary Lane is almost certain to head the American trio. The report is current that President Wilson has decided to appoint Chief Justice White and Justice Hughes of the U. S. Supreme Court to act with him.

STATE SUPERINTENDENT IN FAVOR OF MOVEMENT FOR A MOTHERHOOD MONUMENT

The following letter has been sent to county and city superintendents of schools of California by State Superintendent Edward Hyatt:

"As you all know, it is seldom that I am a party to anything that involves taking subscriptions from the schools. The idea of a California Monument to Motherhood, however, is an appealing one. The good women who have the thing in mind for the Panama-Pacific Exposition are very much in earnest and they are very anxious for sentimental reasons to have the boys and girls of the state interested in the thing, not interested in a perfunctory way, but vitally concerned in it as something in which their own money is invested. These ladies do not desire to raise much cash from the schools. A subscription of a single cent is just as welcome and just as honorable to them as a thousand dollars. They want to point to the monument as including the pennies of the children, given in willing tribute to motherhood. The subscription will be known as the 'Children's Penny Subscription to the Motherhood Monument,' and the maximum amount any child, or the children from one family may give is limited to a nickel.

"I am enclosing with this a number of circulars from Mrs. Sanborn, the president of the Women's Board, giving the important facts about the permanent monument to be dedicated to the pioneer mothers of California. I am asking you to read one of these yourself and to get the others into the hands of your principals and chief teachers at an early date, with your own instructions for carrying the plan out. If it appeals to you as worthy, perhaps you would like to designate a certain day, as the last day of school, or other suitable date, for each teacher in your jurisdiction to make a little talk about the Mothers' Monument, take the penny subscriptions, and send them with the name of the school and the teacher to Mrs. F. G. Sanborn, President of the Woman's Board at the Exposition Building, Pine and Battery Streets, San Francisco. Possibly your teachers would like to make a Mothers' day of it, emphasizing the occasion by some exercises from the children and by inviting the mothers of the neighborhood to be present. Of course it would be necessary for the teacher to announce it beforehand and of course it would be all right if the principal or superintendent would combine the subscriptions from all his schools and send them to Mrs. Sanborn in a lump sum.

"This will make a simple and direct action, without intermediate red tape, and with the least labor possible."

The circular mentioned, follows:

The Pioneer Mother Monument Association has been organized to raise a fund and erect a monument symbolizing motherhood—all motherhood—and to dedicate this great monument to the pioneer mothers of the west—the self-sacrificing women, who braved the dangers and underwent the hardships and privations that are always incident to pioneer life.

In the length and breadth of this fair land there is no monument to the motherhood, the womanhood of the nation.

In New Orleans, there stands the statue of the little baker woman—poor herself—who baked bread and gave it to the poor; and in Portland, Oregon, is the charming statue of the little squaw, her papoose on her back, who led the Lewis and Clark expedition westward. These are of local import, and now comes the opportunity to rear in the Panama-Pacific Exposition, the exhibition of which America, and particularly California, will be proud, a monument to motherhood, an expression of the love and gratitude of California sons and daughters, and dedicate it to the pioneer mothers.

Some of the officers of the Woman's Board of the Panama-Pacific Exposition have been selected as officers of The Pioneer Mother Monument Association. Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, honorary president of the Woman's Board, is its honorary chairman; Mrs. Frederick G. Sanborn, president of the Woman's Board, is its chairman; Mrs. Genevieve Baker, past president of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, is chairman of the finance committee; Mrs. George J. Bucknall, of the Woman's Auxiliary Society of California Pioneers, is chairman of the art committee. The depository is the Bank of California.

To Mr. Charles Grafly has been given the commission for three figures in bronze, mother and two children, at least one and a half times life size, and for bas reliefs of western life to be inserted in the pedestal. Ten of the leading American sculptors were under consideration by the committee. Several could not undertake the commission on account of pressure of work previously undertaken, but such great men in the world of art as Daniel C. French, Paul Bartlett, Frederick MacMonnies and Lorenzo Taft recommended Charles Grafly as being the man best qualified for this particular work.

The monument has been promised the place of honor beneath the dome of the rotunda of the Fine Arts Building of the exposition, and at the close of the exposition will be tendered to the city of San Francisco, constituting a permanent contribution to the art of the state.

The estimated cost of the monument is $25,000. The first sum subscribed is $2,500 from the Native Daughters of the Golden West. It is the purpose and hope of the association to finance the monument by a general subscription from the many rather than by large amounts from a few of our wealthy people. Contributions may be sent to Miss Caroline A. Snook, treasurer, Pioneer Mother Monument Association, or to Mrs. Frederick Sanborn, President, Woman's Board, Panama-Pacific International Exposition, Exposition Building, Pine and Battery Streets, San Francisco. All checks should be made payable to The Pioneer Mother Monument Association.

LEAD PENCILS MAY COST MORE

BERLIN, May 7.—There is a threatening increase in the prices of lead pencils due to the effect of the new conservation laws in the United States. Germany supplies the world with lead pencils, but obtains its cedar from America.

The devastation of the American cedar and cypress forests together with areas now set aside to which access may not be laid, has created a great scarcity of this wood for lead pencils. German manufacturers are looking about for some substitute. The scarcity of hickory, also much imported into Germany from America and generally used for automobile wheels and handles for carpenter's tools, likewise is causing manufacturers worry.

EMIL SEIDEL SPEAKER HERE LAST EVENING

Declared that His Administration Accomplished Results as Was Aimed

Emil Seidel, former Socialist mayor of Milwaukee, spoke last night before a large audience at the College of Music, his subject being "Socialist Rule in Milwaukee."

Mr. Seidel opposed the statement that Socialism would destroy the home, the family and the church, and declared that capitalism itself is doing that very thing. He told how the Socialists first broke into politics in Milwaukee, when a fair sized mass meeting consisted of twenty persons, and how the movement had grown until it finally acquired full political power there.

"When they gained control of the city the Socialists had three primary objects in view," said the speaker. "First, to reorganize all the departments of the city government and consolidate departments that were duplicating work in a senseless and extravagant manner; second, to create standards of efficiency in the city government and to see that each department met the standard set; and third, to work out the social and economic problems of the city for the benefit of the people instead of for the benefit of Big Business."

Many illustrations were given showing how, according to Seidel, each of these objects was accomplished.

Seidel declared that the present form of society permits the weak to go down first, and said the Socialistic society would prevent this. He showed how a strike was regulated under the Socialist regime in Milwaukee to the entire satisfaction of all parties, without a particle of violence, and compared this case with some in Colorado, Calumet, West Virginia, and some other places. He closed with the statement that "as all industries now demand collective work, so that an individual cannot own his own tools, they should all be owned collectively, so that no private master should have the power of taking from a man his job."

After the lecture Seidel spent a few minutes answering questions, the most timely one being in regard to the Mexican situation. Seidel stated that he was more interested in the war in Colorado than in the Mexican war, because he considered the attitude of the United States in regard to the firing of salutes of little consequence, and felt that Americans who held private property and residence in Mexico should do so at their own risk.

PEACH AND APRICOT CROPS AT FRESNO ARE BELOW NORMAL

County Commissioner Says They Will Be 25 Per Cent Short

Heavy Drop of Fruit Reported from All Over the State

FRESNO, May 5.—The peach and apricot crops of Fresno county will be about 75 per cent of normal, according to the April report of Fred P. Rouillard, county commissioner of horticulture, to the State Commission. Rouillard says that the falling off in the crop is due to heavy dropping of fruit.

He stated yesterday that he found a peach orchard near Selma that was irrigated last fall and that it is doing exceedingly well, he will recommend to all fruit growers that they inaugurate fall irrigation.

Figs, berries, olives, citrus fruits and walnuts in the county will be 100 per cent normal in quantity this year, according to Rouillard.

In the April report of Deputy State Horticultural Commissioner George P. Weldon, on the fruits of the state of California, crop conditions are known to be much less favorable than they were a few weeks ago, and the phenomenal dropping seems to have been general throughout the state. The state report is compiled from the reports of the different county commissioners.

Three Causes

Three general causes are assigned for the dropping, the drought of two years, the hot weather in the middle of March and the cold, with frost which followed. While Fresno county had some hot weather in March, there was no frost whatever, and only on one or two occasions did the temperature drop to anything near the freezing point.

While the state reports show that drought had something to do with the drop, it is asserted that its effect was not severe for the drop in irrigated orchards is almost as heavy as in the unirrigated.

Among the fruits which have suffered most heavily are prunes, and in the heaviest producing section, the Santa Clara Valley, the crop is lighter in proportion than in any other section. There the county horticultural commissioner places the crop at 25 per cent of normal, or probably less than 50,000,000 pounds. Butte county also reports a 25 per cent drop of prunes, but Yolo and Yuba, among the large districts in this district, send in reports of 40 and 60, respectively, and Glenn, a growing producer, reports 100 per cent.

Almonds, growing principally in Sutter and Yolo counties, will have a big crop where the reports range from 60 per cent in Butte to 100 in Colusa. As a matter of fact all fruit crops in Colusa will be large from present indications, that county reporting in the main 100 per cent. Glenn reports 100 per cent in every instance.

Large Crop of Cots

Apricots in most of the heavy producing sections, save only Solano and Yolo counties, show a large crop, both in Northern, Central and Southern California. Ventura reports 95 per cent, Orange 80, and Kings 110. Peaches in most sections of the San Joaquin Valley will have large yields, with Kings, a great canning section, leading with a percentage of 120 for canning, drying and shipping peaches. Northern California also shows up well in peaches. Pears in the valley and mountain counties show up well, but the predictions that the cherry shipments this year would fall below those of last year are borne out by the reports. Oranges have the best of prospects, the percentage in no case dropping below 75 per cent, and ranging as high as 110.

IF HAIR IS TURNING GRAY USE SAGE TEA

Here's Grandmother's Recipe to Darken and Beautify Faded Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just an application of two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

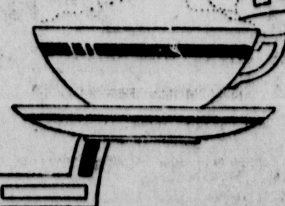

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant.—Advertisement.

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it. Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.—Advertisement.

MAY OPEN BEFORE FAIR

Director of Building A. E. Bird writes that Mahomet's Mountain may be opened to the public the moment it is finished.

This authorization has been given by the Exposition authorities and means that our shareholders should be receiving substantial dividends long before the Fair opens.

Director-General Burt of the Panama-Pacific-International Exposition is of the opinion that the Mountain should pay for itself before the Exposition begins.

Just think what that means. It may be possible to get all your money back before Opening Day.

This is a lifetime opportunity. You may never see it again. Arouse yourselves and get your friends to see it also. This good news will further stimulate the demand for our shares which are expected to earn at least 10 to 1.

STATE SUPERINTENDENT IN FAVOR OF MOVEMENT FOR A MOTHERHOOD MONUMENT

The following letter has been sent to county and city superintendents of schools of California by State Superintendent Edward Hyatt:

"As you all know, it is seldom that I am a party to anything that involves taking subscriptions from the schools. The idea of a California Monument to Motherhood, however, is an appealing one. The good women who have the things in mind for the Panama-Pacific Exposition are very much in earnest and they are very anxious for sentimental reasons to have the boys and girls of the state interested in the thing, not interested in a perfunctory way, but vitally concerned in it as something in which their own money is invested. These ladies do not desire to raise much cash from the schools. A subscription of a single cent is just as welcome and just as honorable to them as a thousand dollars. They want to point to the monument as including the pennies of the children, given in willing tribute to motherhood. The subscription will be known as the 'Children's Penny Subscription to the Motherhood Monument,' and the maximum amount any child, or the children from one family may give is limited to a nickel.

"I am enclosing with this a number of circulars from Mrs. Sanborn, the president of the Women's Board, giving the important facts about the permanent monument to be dedicated to the pioneer mothers of California. I am asking you to read one of these yourself and to get the others into the hands of your principals and chief teachers at an early date, with your own instructions for carrying the plan out, if it appeals to you as worthy. Perhaps you would like to designate a certain day, as the last day of school, or other suitable date, for each teacher in your jurisdiction to make a little talk about the Mothers' Monument, take the penny subscriptions, and send them with the name of the school and the teacher to Mrs. F. G. Sanborn, President of

Some of the officers of the Woman's Board of the Panama-Pacific Exposition have been selected as officers of The Pioneer Mother Monument Association. Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, honorary president of the Woman's Board, is its honorary chairman; Mrs. Frederick G. Sanborn, president of the Woman's Board, is its chairman; Mrs. Genevieve Baker, past president of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, is chairman of the finance committee; Mrs. George J. Bucknall, of the Woman's Auxiliary Society of California Pioneers, is chairman of the art committee. The depository is the Bank of California.

To Mr. Charles Grady has been given the commission for three figures in bronze, mother and two children, at least one and a half times life size, and for bas-reliefs of western life to be inserted in the pedestal. Ten of the leading American sculptors were under consideration by the committee. Several could not undertake the commission on account of pressure of work previously undertaken, but such great men in the world of art as Daniel C. French, Paul Bartlett, Frederick MacMonnies and Leardo Taft recommended Charles Grady as being the man best qualified for this particular work.

The monument has been promised the place of honor beneath the dome of the rotunda of the Fine Arts Building of the exposition, and at the close of the exposition will be tendered to the city of San Francisco, constituting a permanent contribution to the art of the state.

The estimated cost of the monument is $25,000. The first sum subscribed is $2,500 from the Native Daughters of the Golden West. It is the purpose and hope of the association to finance the monument by a general subscription from the many rather than by large amounts from a few of our wealthy people. Contributions may be sent to Miss Caroline A. Snook, treasurer, Pioneer Mother Monument Association, or to Mrs. Frederick Sanborn, President, Women's Board, Panama-Pacific International Exposition, Exposition Building, Pine and Battery Streets, San Francisco. All checks should be made payable to The Pioneer Mother Monument Association.

LEAD PENCILS MAY COST MORE

BERLIN, May 7.—There is a threatening increase in the prices of lead pencils due to the effect of the new conservation laws in the United States. Germany supplies the world with lead pencils, but obtains its cedar from America.

The devastation of the American cedar and cypress forests together with areas now set aside to which access may not be laid, has created a great scarcity of this wood for lead pencils. German manufacturers are looking about for some substitute. The scarcity of bickory, also much imported into Germany from America and generally used for automobile wheels and handles for carpenters' tools, likewise is causing manufacturers worry.

EMIL SEIDEL SPEAKER HERE LAST EVENING

Declared that His Administration Accomplished Results as Was Aimed

Emil Seidel, former Socialist mayor of Milwaukee, spoke last night before a large audience at the College of Music, his subject being "Socialist Rule in Milwaukee."

Mr. Seidel opposed the statement that Socialism would destroy the home, the family and the church, and declared that capitalism itself is doing that very thing. He told how the Socialists first broke into politics in Milwaukee, when a fair sized mass meeting consisted of twenty persons, and how the movement had grown until it finally acquired full political power there.

"When they gained control of the city the Socialists had three primary objects in view," said the speaker. "First, to reorganize all the departments of the city government and consolidate departments that were duplicating work in a senseless and extravagant manner; second, to create standards of efficiency in the city government and to see that each department met the standard set; and third, to work out the social and economic problems of the city for the benefit of the people instead of for the benefit of Big Business."

Many illustrations were given showing how, according to Seidel, each of these objects was accomplished.

Seidel declared that the present form of society permits the weak to go down first, and said the Socialistic society would prevent this. He showed how a strike was regulated under the Socialist regime in Milwaukee to the entire satisfaction of all parties, without a particle of violence, and compared this case with some in Colorado, Calumet, West Virginia, and some other places. He closed with the statement that "as all industries now demand collective work, so that an individual cannot own his own tools, they should all be owned collectively, so that no private master should have the power of taking from a man his job."

After the lecture Seidel spent a few minutes answering questions, the most timely one being in regard to the Mexican situation. Seidel stated that he was more interested in the war in Colorado than in the Mexican war, because he considered the attitude of the United States in regard to the firing of salutes of little consequence, and felt that Americans who held private property and residence in Mexico should do so at their own risk.

PEACH AND APRICOT CROPS AT FRESNO ARE BELOW NORMAL

County Commissioner Says They Will Be 25 Per Cent Short

Heavy Drop of Fruit Reported from All Over the State

FRESNO, May 5.—The peach and apricot crops of Fresno county will be about 75 per cent of normal, according to the April report of Fred P. Rouillard, county commissioner of horticulture, to the State Commission. Rouillard says that the falling off in the crop is due to heavy dropping of fruit.

He stated yesterday that he found a peach orchard near Selma that was irrigated last fall and that it is doing exceedingly well, he will recommend to all fruit growers that they inaugurate fall irrigation.

Figs, berries, olives, citrus fruits and walnuts in the county will be 100 per cent normal in quantity this year, according to Rouillard.

In the April report of Deputy State Horticultural Commissioner George P. Weldon, on the fruits of the state of California, crop conditions are known to be much less favorable than they were a few weeks ago, and the phenomenal dropping seems to have been general throughout the state. The report is compiled from the reports of the different county commissioners.

Three Causes

Three general causes are assigned for the dropping, the drought of two years, the hot weather in the middle of March and the cold, with frost which followed. While Fresno county had some hot weather in March, there was no frost whatever, and only on one or two occasions did the temperature drop to anything near the freezing point.

While the state reports show that drought had something to do with the drop, it is asserted that its effect was not severe for the drop in irrigated orchards is almost as heavy as in the unirrigated.

Among the fruits which have suffered most heavily are prunes, and in the heaviest producing section, the Santa Clara Valley, the crop is lighter in proportion than in any other section. There the county horticultural commissioner places the crop at 25 per cent of normal, or probably less than 60,000,000 pounds. Butte county also reports a 25 per cent drop of prunes, but Yolo and Yuba, among

The large districts in this district, send in reports of 40 and 60, respectively, and Glenn, a growing producer, reports 100 per cent.

Almonds, growing principally in Sutter and Yolo counties, will have a big crop where the reports range from 60 per cent in Butte to 100 in Colusa. As a matter of fact all fruit crops in Colusa will be large from present indications, that county reporting in the main 100 per cent. Glenn reports 100 per cent in every instance.

Large Crop of Cots

Apricots in most of the heavy producing sections, save only Solano and Yolo counties, show a large crop, both in Northern, Central and Southern California. Ventura reports 95 per cent, Orange 80, and Kings 110. Peaches in most sections of the San Joaquin Valley will have large yields, with Kings, a great canning section, leading with a percentage of 120 for canning, drying and shipping peaches. Northern California also shows up well in peaches. Pears in the valley and mountain counties show up well, but the predictions that the cherry shipments this year would fall below those of last year are borne out by the reports. Oranges have the best of prospects, the percentage in no case dropping below 75 per cent, and ranging as high as 110.

BRITISH MUSEUM "BACK DOOR" IS DEDICATED

King Edward VII Galleries Are
Opened to London Public;
Royalty Present

LONDON, May 7.—The new million dollar "back door" of the British Museum, on Montague Place, was formally declared open today by King George and several acres of galleries containing national treasures, which owing to lack of space for exhibition, have been lying in storage, are now accessible to the public. The King Edward VII Galleries, as the new building is called, forms part of the extension scheme which is to give the museum the entire block bounded by Russell and Bedford squares, Great-Russell street, Bloomsbury street and Montague Place, at a cost of between three and four million dollars. The ground, as might be gathered from the names of the streets, is part of the Duke of Bedford's Bloomsbury estate, and cost $1,000,000, while the galleries opened today cost a similar sum to construct.

The king, accompanied by Queen Mary and several carriage loads of members of their staff, drove from Buckingham Palace without escort, and the only military display was that provided by the local volunteer regiment, Central London Rangers, which supplied a guard of honor. Stringent police precautions were taken to prevent interference by the militant suffragettes who threatened to march from their headquarters on Kingsway, only a short distance from the museum, to petition the king. The royal party having pressed the button throwing open the great doors, proceeded to inspect the galleries and exhibits, which include many valuable paintings, prints, drawings, etc., and the overflow from the ever-increasing library, now the largest in Europe.

The building has a frontage of 386 feet and like the original building which it backs, has a facade of twenty huge Ionic columns, flanked by two 396-foot towers. The work was commenced seven years ago, John J. Burnet being the architect, while Sir George Frampton is responsible for the stonemasonry.

"Friend Ford: The injurious agent in cigarettes comes principally from the burning paper wrapper. The substance thereby formed is called 'acrolein.' It has a violent action on the nerve centers, producing degeneration of the cells of the brain, which is quite rapid among boys. Unlike most narcotics, this degeneration is permanent and uncontrollable. I employ no person who smokes cigarettes."

Mr. Ford's theory is that no statute that can be passed can prevent a boy from smoking if he wants to smoke, and that most boys become addicted to the tobacco habit through smoking cigarettes.

SALTS IS FINE FOR KIDNEYS, QUIT MEAT

Flush the Kidneys at Once
When Back Hurts or
Bladder Bothers

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Advertisement.

STATE FORESTS SHOW A BIG INCREASE

Improvement Said to Be Due to Change in the Range
Conditions

The authorizations of the Secretary of agriculture for all the national forests show a net increase for the season of 1914 of 38,120 cattle and horses, 6,110 swine and 346,598 sheep and goats over the numbers authorized for the season of 1913, says the Los Angeles Examiner.

These increases, according to official statement, are the direct result of improvement in range conditions on the national forests through government regulation. The total number of livestock authorized for 1914 are 1,819,119 cattle and horses, 65,546 swine, and 8,867,906 sheep and goats.

On the California national forests grazing applications will be received for 207,612 cattle and horses, 8,490 swine and 521,490 sheep and goats, which is a substantial increase over the authorizations for 1913.

FIRST AMERICANS CAME FROM ASIA

Such is Conclusion of Woman
Explorer, Who Places Data
With Geographers

Latest to affirm that the earliest inhabitants of the American continent came from Asia, Mrs. Harriet Chalmers Adams, an American woman explorer, has communicated her conclusions to the National Geographic Society at Washington. Mrs. Adams recently returned to the United States from Asia, where she made a study of the peoples from Siberia to Sumatra.

"This earliest immigration," she says, "was at a very remote period, for our prehistoric monuments point to an indigenous culture. A branch of an old world race, these 'early Americans' evolved to their highest civilization on new world soil."

Mrs. Adams is confident that a closer study of the Indo-Chinese branch of the yellow race, the Malay, Chinese, and Tibetan, as compared to America's prehistoric civilization, will shed new light on the problem of tracing the original American. Although savants are said to agree that America was peopled by way of the northwest, Mrs. Adams doubts that all Americans came this way. In the Philippines, Mrs. Adams saw Iugao warriors who resembled Aymara chiefs of the Andean highlands.

"This is not strange when we class the Iugao as Malays of the Indo-Chinese branch of the yellow race and believe that ancient America was peopled from Asia," declares Mrs. Adams. "Not only among certain Malay mountain tribes, but also in western China, was I constantly reminded of 'things Americ,' but never among people of a low grade of civilization, only when among people of ancient lineage. In olden days, great war canoes were paddled by many oarsmen from one South Sea island to another. It seems likely that in this fashion men set sail from the Malay peninsula, with their wives and children, food, household goods and domestic animals aboard, and, aided by wind and tide, reached the Promised Land, some palm-fringed isle in the tropic sea."

Mrs. Adams has records of many small boats that apparently were blown across the Pacific, one of them a Japanese fishing boat, which landed its unwilling immigrants on Californian soil two years ago.

THE WAY HE FOUND OUT WHO HAD CORNS

Itinerant Merchant's Method of Doing Business Somewhat Rough, But He Got the Money

"My stars!" exclaimed a man, pushing someone who stood near him, "you have trod on my corn!"

The fellow snatched out a box of ointment and replied:

"I can relieve you, sir, in a few minutes. Only a quarter. Endorsed by the medical fraternity everywhere. There's no use suffering. One box? Thank you," he added, as he put the money in his pocket.

"It was an accident you found him," someone remarked to the salvo dealer.

"Oh, no, it wasn't. If you ask a man if he's got corns he don't want to talk to you; but when you find out that he's got 'em, the chances of selling him the medicine are good. I advertise my medicine by going into crowds and slyly feeling for corns. Yonder stands a fat fellow. When the crowd gets thicker I'll go over and tap his hoof. Oh, yes, it may be painful, but, my dear sir, the business of this country must be carried on regardless of sentiment."

Parisian Fashions Will Demand Taffeta

We are to have a taffeta season, not the stiff taffeta of our grandmothers' day, however, but a pliable taffeta that lends itself beautifully, to the ruffles, tunics, and draperies of the present day modes.

The one-piece costume and pack-et suit so nearly resemble each other this season that it is often hard to distinguish them, due largely to the fact that many of the jackets with their kimono sleeves are made similar to bodices in front, and in back give the appearance of being part of the tunic skirt.

The costume in the sketch is one of the advance models, made of dark blue taffeta, with trimmings of black flowered moire. The skirt proper is extremely narrow, the opening in front being filled with plaited chiffon. The waist line is high and the jacket is finished with a black moire gir-dle to correspond with the revers and Medici collar.

JAPAN TIMES ADVISES THE STUDY OF ENGLISH

TOKIO, May 7.—In a significant editorial the Japan Times, commenting on the special education of the crown prince, urges the discarding of the "old fogey" ideas that sacrifice substance for the sake of form.

It recommends extensive travel at home and abroad, practical training in the army and navy and the learning not only of French, but of English, because it is the language of Japan's ally, Great Britain, and of its best friend, the United States.

GAVE AWAY GOOD LAND IN ORDER TO AVOID TAX PAYING

GREENLY, Colo., May 7.—Rather than pay the taxes assessed to him under the new system of full valuation, Ed House, known as the Luther Burbank of Colorado, gave away ten acres of good land west of Evans to Claude Newton and E. E. Onstine, employees at the courthouse, handing to each a quit claim deed. The land is well located and is easily watered.

HUSBAND AND WIFE

A noted physician has excited England by an elaborate argument to show that nature intended every man to have several wives. He points out that numbers of the races of the world have practiced polygamy in the past and that many do still, and in electrical language he presents the conclusion that the condition must be a natural one.

But he might have gone just one step further and shown just as conclusively that every woman ought to have several husbands. Many nations have lived under polyandry, meaning one woman to many men. Some do still, the Tibetans, for instance.

He might by the same process show that nature intended men to eat one another, to kill off their weakling children, to slaughter the aged as soon as they are past work, to burn dead men's wives, and to sacrifice human beings to religious superstition.

It is more than amazing that in an enlightened land and in this enlightened age a learned man, with no saner argument than this, should outrage sense and sentiment alike by advocating a return to a marriage system which makes women mere slaves, and deprives them of their natural faculty for refining the natures of men.

The people of this age are not seeking excuse for polygamous marriage. It is almost universally recognized that the highest, most beautiful relation between the sexes is that which exists when a man and a woman joyfully remain faithful to one another all their lives. Such a bond makes them lovers, helpmates, comrades. It is the best possible destiny for both.

It gives woman an assured position, an honored place in the community. It endows her with a sense of responsibility. The man's character is subtly influenced by that of his wife. Her tenderness soothes him in weariness and her devotion cheers him in disappointment.

EXCUSES FOR LYING

A French theologian, with the approval of his vicar general, has taken the pains to revise the popular notions of falsehood and simplify the delicate art of veracity.

His definition of a lie is an effort to deceive one who has a right to know the truth. This leaves a wide range for falsehood that is permissible.

The "permissible lies," according to this theory, include those told to guard a secret and those told in self-defense. Thus, he says: A wife may "lie" about her infidelity, a witness in a law court may "lie" if he has reason to fear resentment against the prisoner, a confessor may "lie" about sins already absolved, and any one may "lie" to the enemies of his country, or in any case where his own safety is concerned. And none of these lies will be a lie, "properly so-called."

This means, in short, that a lie is "permissible" whenever it is more convenient than the truth.

And the real philosophy of it is that the only "lies" that are real lies are those told without any definite purpose in view except to astound or entertain.

The attempt to draw a line of distinction between white lies and black ones is not new. But it is somewhat new for a distinguished theologian, with the approval of a vicar general, to attempt to show that fully nine-tenths of the lies told are justifiable.

In the law courts various degrees of truthfulness have already been recognized. An accused man is allowed to plead "Not guilty," without perjury, and perjury itself is of comparatively recent origin, not having been known in law before the time of Elizabeth and still being confined to assertory oaths only.

But the moral aspect of lying is supposed to be different from the legal aspect. And now it appears that a French theologian can present an aspect that is neither moral nor legal.

The law judges a lie from its effect upon the person or persons injured by it. Theologians judge a lie from its results upon the liar's future existence. But there is a nearer and better way of judging, and that is from the effect upon the liar's own character. There is nothing more self-debasing than the habit of lying. The man or woman who has acquired it has lost the highest quality for true usefulness, self-respect and content.

WATER COMMISSION BILL

Riverside Press: In his address before the State Federation of Women's Clubs yesterday Francis Cuttle made a strong argument in behalf of the water commission bill which will come before the voters of the state in November. Mr. Cuttle is a recognized authority on water matters and as a member of the state conservation commission made a very careful study of this measure. His presentation of the issue made a decided effect on the hundreds of women voters who heard him and for the benefit of Press readers generally the following extracts from it are given:

In examining into the merits or demerits of such a question as the one before us, it is well to first carefully consider who the proponents of the measure are, and who are the parties opposing it. In this case, the proponents of the law are the members of the state conservation commission. This commission was appointed by the governor under an act of the legislature of this state in the year 1910. This commission was charged with the duty of investigating the conditions of the natural resources of the state, the laws appertaining to these resources, as well as many other natural resources, and to recommend to the legislature of 1912 such bills as in the judgment of the commission would best conserve the natural resources of the state, and bring about their best use.

Acting under the powers vested in the commission by the legislature of 1910, the state conservation commission spent a year and a half in gathering information. During this time practically all laws of the different states of the United States, and of foreign countries were carefully examined and collated, for the purpose of combining the best laws possible to bring about the desired result. During that time this work was being compiled, the commission held many public meetings at different parts of the state to which all interested parties were invited, and asked for their opinion and advice, and criticisms on the different provisions of the proposed law, to the end that all interested parties might have a fair opportunity of presenting their views.

Immediately the bill was introduced into the last legislature of this state, a powerful lobby was established in Sacramento for the sole purpose of defeating this bill. I am advised, by the very best authority, that this lobby was maintained during the entire session of the legislature at heavy expense, and every legitimate means at its command has been used to defeat the bill, which, however, passed the legislature and received the signature of the governor. Immediately after that, the parties who had opposed the passage of the bill had a referendum circulated and the necessary number of names having been secured, the law is now the subject of referendum in this state.

It would be well for you in considering this bill to pause and consider why this tremendous activity to defeat this measure, and where did the money come from to furnish the opposition, for it cost a lot of money to maintain that lobby and secure the signatures to that referendum petition. Can you believe for a moment that this activity and expense was incurred for the purpose of saving the small water users from the grasp of the monopolist, or is it not more likely that the money to furnish the opposition to this measure came from people who hope to profit by the defeat of the law?

In this connection there comes to my mind these words attributed to ex-Mayor Alexander of Los Angeles on his retirement from office, as I now remember the statement, he said, "I leave my office as I entered, a poor man. During my term of office there have been attempts from two sources to corrupt me, one of these was from the liquor interests and the other from the power interests."

Is that remark not most significant? But why are these people so determined that this law shall not be placed upon the statute book, and a commission appointed for the purpose of guarding the interests of the public at large in that great natural resource of the state water? Up to this time it has been possible to appropriate water for irrigation and power purposes by either using the same, or by filing a notice of appropriation in the office of the county recorder. The latter method gave to the appropriator six months in which to begin operations. This has brought about a most flagrant abuse of the intent of the law, which was the beneficial use of water. It has been possible under that law for parties who desired to control water to file notice of appropriation, and before the expiration of the six months period which the law gave to begin the work of putting the water to use, another person, probably a friend or partner of the first appropriator would file upon the same stream of water and before that filing expired still another would file upon the water, and so there have been filings upon some of our streams over and over again until it is now almost impossible for the person who really desires to put the water to a beneficial use to clear up these filings and find place and means by which he can put water to beneficial use. It has been said that these filings amounted to nothing because the parties making them had failed in not putting the water to a beneficial use during the six months subsequent to such filings, but it is a notorious fact that these claimants to water have fought bitterly for years the attempt of these later appropriators to use the water and this has brought about a tremendous amount of costly and heart-breaking litigation over water rights in this state.

The opponents of this law, without any authority, so far as I have been able to learn, say that the law will unsettle water rights in this state, while the proponents of the bill claim that the effect will be the opposite and, in substantiation of this claim, point to the fact that in our neighboring state of Oregon during the past four years under a state administration similar to that proposed by this law, 1000 law suits have been settled at an average expense of about $10 each, while in the state of Wyoming, during the past 20 years, under a state commission, 15,000 cases have been settled with less than one per cent of these cases appealed from the decisions of the commission. The law, if sustained by the people of this state will compel the users of water to put such water to beneficial use, or permit others to do so, and in order to be sure that the water will be put to a beneficial use, it is provided that applicants for the use of water shall file with the commission complete information of the proposed work, and show to the commission that the appropriator has funds at his command or knows where he can get them to enable him to carry on his project in a business like way. This does not mean that the man of small means, shall not have the right to appropriate water to the extent that he is able to put the same to beneficial use.

Summing up, in just a word the object of this law is to safeguard the interests of the people at large in the water of the streams of California in such manner as to result in the greatest good to the largest number.

HOLD WORLD POTATO CONGRESS DURING 1915

Eugene H. Grubb, "potato king" of America and former United States Commissioner to Europe appointed for the purpose of investigating the causes of the poor crops of potatoes in this country has outlined the plans for the world's potato congress to be held at the Panama-Pacific International exposition next year.

Eugene H. Grubb is a brother of City Trustee W. L. Grubb of Santa Ana. "The potato is the world's greatest food product and the only rival of John D. Rockefeller," said Mr. Grubb recently, as he lamented the falling off of the potato crops in this country during the last decade.

"Few people realize the value of the potato and what it really means to the world. How many Americans realize that several decades ago, when the potato crops of Europe failed, more than a million people died of starvation as direct result and that 250,000 of these famished in Ireland?"

In the United States the potato crops are exceptionally small to the acre owing to the ignorance of modern scientific methods of cultivation. I don't like to deal in averages. The average cow or the average horse or the average woman or the average man have never counted in the world's history. So why should we speak of average crops?"

"In Europe the good potato grower will get a yield of from 500 to 700 bushels an acre, while in the United States the good farmer will get only one-half as much. If you insist upon a comparison of the averages, however, the American potato grower will obtain only one-third as many bushels to the acre as will the European grower.

"With America's wonderfully fertile soil, its irrigating projects and its excellent type of farmer, the European farmers' records should be broken every year. But the American requires to be educated to the modern methods."

"And that is the reason that the Panama-Pacific International Exposition will offer large rewards of cash and of trophies to the best showing made by American boy and girl potato growers. This, by the way, I believe is the first time that these awards have been announced. We have felt that it is necessary to educate the boys and girls so that when they are grown they will bring the United States to its proper position in the potato-growing industry."

"Utah now has 18,000 boys and girls growing potatoes for annual prizes of $100, $500, and other states 215,000. It might be interesting to note that in every state where the boys and girls are engaged in this work the girls have excelled the boys."

"The potato is the only rival of John D. Rockefeller and the great petrol is made from its waste products."

"I believe that the exposition will be a wonderful factor in educating the public to the value of the potato and the farmer to the tremendous possibilities of raising them."

"I appreciate the fact that the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is the first large fair to recognize this industry and shall do my best to make the Potato Congress a great success."

Opened to London Public;
Royalty Present

LONDON, May 7.—The new million dollar "back door" of the British Museum, on Montague Place, was formally declared open today by King George and several acres of galleries containing national treasures, which owing to lack of space for exhibition, have been lying in storage, are now accessible to the public. The King Edward VII Galleries, as the new building is called, forms part of the extension scheme which is to give the museum the entire block bounded by Russell and Bedford squares, Great-Russell street, Bloomsbury street and Montague Place, at a cost of between three and four million dollars. The ground, as might be gathered from the names of the streets, is part of the Duke of Bedford's Bloomsbury estate, and cost $1,000,000, while the galleries opened today cost a similar sum to construct.

The king, accompanied by Queen Mary and several carriage loads of members of their staff, drove from Buckingham Palace without escort, and the only military display was that provided by the local volunteer regiment, Central London Rangers, which supplied a guard of honor. Stringent police precautions were taken to prevent interference by the militant suffragettes who threatened to march from their headquarters on Kingsway, only a short distance from the museum, to petition the king. The royal party having pressed the button throwing open the great doors, proceeded to inspect the galleries and exhibits, which include many valuable paintings, prints, drawings, etc., and the overflow from the ever-increasing library, now the largest in Europe. The building has a frontage of 386 feet and like the original building, which it backs, has a facade of twenty huge Ionic columns, flanked by two 390-foot towers. The work was commenced seven years ago, John J. Burnet being the architect, while Sir George Frampton is responsible for the statuary.

HENRY FORD DOWN ON CIGARETTE HABIT

Frames Edison Letter Telling of Harmful Effects of the Deadly Smoke

DETROIT, Mich., May 7.—Henry Ford, the automobile manufacturer, has joined the anti-cigarette army and will help curb the habit, especially among young boys. When Mr. Ford was in Fort Myers, Florida, recently on his southern trip with Thomas A. Edison, a discussion arose between the two concerning the evil of cigarette smoking. When the inventor returned to his laboratory in Orange, N. J., he wrote a letter on the matter to Mr. Ford. Copies of it will be framed at Mr. Ford's expense and if School Superintendent Chadsey agrees they will be hung in all Detroit public schools. The letter is as follows:

"Friend Ford: The injurious agent in cigarettes comes principally from the burning paper wrapper. The substance thereby formed is called 'acrolein.' It has a violent action on the nerve centers, producing degeneration of the cells of the brain, which is quite rapid among boys. Unlike most narcotics, this degeneration is permanent and uncontrollable. I employ no person who smokes cigarettes."

Mr. Ford's theory is that no statute that can be passed can prevent a boy from smoking if he wants to smoke, and that most boys become addicted to the tobacco habit through smoking cigarettes.

SALTS IS FINE FOR KIDNEYS, QUIT MEAT

Flush the Kidneys at Once
When Back Hurts or
Bladder Bothers

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headache, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Advertisement.

STATE FORESTS SHOW A BIG INCREASE

Improvement Said to Be Due to Change in the Range
Conditions

The authorizations of the Secretary of agriculture for all the national forests show a net increase for the season of 1914 of 38,120 cattle and horses, 6,110 swine and 346,598 sheep and goats over the numbers authorized for the season of 1913, says the Los Angeles Examiner.

These increases, according to official statement, are the direct result of improvement in range conditions on the national forests through government regulation. The total number of livestock authorized for 1914 are 1,819,119 cattle and horses, 65,546 swine, and 8,867,906 sheep and goats.

On the California national forests grazing applications will be received for 207,612 cattle and horses, 8490 swine and 521,490 sheep and goats, which is a substantial increase over the authorizations for 1913.

FIRST AMERICANS CAME FROM ASIA

Such is Conclusion of Woman
Explorer, Who Places Data
With Geographers

Latest to affirm that the earliest inhabitants of the American continent came from Asia, Mrs. Harriet Chalmers Adams, an American woman explorer, has communicated her conclusions to the National Geographic Society at Washington. Mrs. Adams recently returned to the United States from Asia, where she made a study of the peoples from Siberia to Sumatra.

"This earliest immigration," she says, "was at a very remote period, for our prehistoric monuments point to an indigenous culture. A branch of an old world race, these 'early Americans' evolved to their highest civilization on new world soil."

Mrs. Adams is confident that a closer study of the Indo-Chinese branch of the yellow race, the Malay, Chinese, and Tibetan, as compared to America's prehistoric civilization, will shed new light on the problem of tracing the original American. Although savants are said to agree that America was peopled by way of the northwest, Mrs. Adams doubts that all Americans came this way. In the Philippines, Mrs. Adams saw Ifugaos warriors who resembled Aymara chiefs of the Andean highlands.

"This is not strange when we class the Ifugaos as Malays of the Indo-Chinese branch of the yellow race and believe that ancient America was peopled from Asia," declares Mrs. Adams. "Not only among certain Malay mountain tribes, but also in western China was I constantly reminded of 'things Americ,' but never among people of a low grade of civilization, only when among people of ancient lineage. In olden days, great war canoes were paddled by many oarsmen from one South Sea island to another. It seems likely that in this fashion men set sail from the Malay peninsula, with their wives and children, food, household goods and domestic animals aboard, and aided by wind and tide, reached the Promised Land, some palm-fringed isle in the tropic sea."

Mrs. Adams has records of many small boats that apparently were blown across the Pacific, one of them a Japanese fishing boat, which landed its unwilling immigrants on Californian soil two years ago.

THE WAY HE FOUND OUT WHO HAD CORNS

Itinerant Merchant's Method of Doing Business Somewhat Rough, But He Got the Money

"My stars!" exclaimed a man, pushing someone who stood near him, "you have trod on my corn!"

The fellow snatched out a box of ointment and replied: "I can relieve you, sir, in a few minutes. Only a quarter. Endorsed by the medical fraternity everywhere. There's no use suffering. One box? Thank you," he added, as he put the money in his pocket.

"It was an accident you found him," someone remarked to the salve dealer. "Oh, no, it wasn't. If you ask a man if he's got corns he don't want to talk to you; but when you find out that he's got 'em, the chances of selling him the medicine are good. I advertise my medicine by going into crowds and slyly feeling for corns. Yonder stands a fat fellow. When the crowd gets thicker I'll go over and tap his hoof. Oh, yes, it may be painful, but, my dear sir, the business of this country must be carried on regardless of sentiment."

Parisian Fashions Will Demand Taffeta

We are to have a taffeta season, not the stiff taffeta of our grandmothers' day, however, but a pliable taffeta that lends itself beautifully, to the ruffles, tunics, and draperies of the present day modes.

The one-piece costume and pack-suit so nearly resemble each other this season that it is often hard to distinguish them, due largely to the fact that many of the jackets with their kimono sleeves are made similar to bodices in front, and in back give the appearance of being part of the tunic skirt.

The costume in the sketch is one of the advance models, made of dark blue taffeta, with trimmings of black, flowered moire. The skirt proper is extremely narrow, the opening in front being filled with plaited chiffon. The waist line is high and the jacket is finished with a black moire girde to correspond with the revers and Medici collar.

TOKIO, May 7.—In a significant editorial the Japan Times, commenting on the special education of the crown prince, urges the discarding of the "old fogey" ideas that sacrifice substance for the sake of form.

It recommends extensive travel at home and abroad, practical training in the army and navy and the learning not only of French, but of English, because it is the language of Japan's ally, Great Britain, and of its best friend, the United States.

DELIGHTFUL PARTY

Half Hundred Guests Join in Progressive Whist at the C. S. Kendall Home

Very delightful was the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Kendall last evening when they opened their attractive Cypress avenue home to over half a hundred of their friends. The entertainment offered was progressive whist.

The house was fragrant and lovely with quantities of pink and white carnations disposed in vases, brown baskets and at all possible points where the sweet flowers could be prettily displayed. Fourteen tables of players joined in the whist games, and when points were counted, Mrs. W. E. Winslow and E. B. Trago were awarded first prizes for high score; Mrs. John Wehrly and Henry Rutherford winning second prizes. The players to be consoled were Mrs. George Balderston and Theo A. Winbiger. Harry and Charles Kendall and Dr. McNeil assisted the hostess in keeping score.

Delectable refreshments were served in two courses on the small tables which were centered with pink tulip-trimmed baskets, the pink and white color scheme being seen in the dainty viands.

Women's Missionary Meeting
The Women's Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian church held a most interesting meeting yesterday afternoon in the church, the parlors being well filled with members and friends of the society. Mrs. Robert McFadden, Mrs. D. L. Mitchell, Mrs. Pressley Thompson and Mrs. Juliette Smith were hostesses for the afternoon.

The president, Mrs. J. D. Kennedy, presided during the program. The subject discussed was "The King's Treasury." Mrs. W. M. Smart read a splendid paper on "The Idea of Missionary Giving" and Mrs. S. H. Finley's subject was "Sifting at Ellis Island."

"Prayer as a Working Force" was talked on by the members of the society. Roll call was answered with Bible verses on "Giving." Mrs. Wm. Smart and Mrs. J. A. Raitt each gave very interesting reports from the Federation of Missionary Societies which was held in Santa Ana last week. The president, Mrs. J. G. Kennedy, presided during the program.

MODERN LANGUAGE SHOW BY POLY HIGH STUDENTS

Much interest is being shown in the Modern Language entertainment to be given by the High school Friday evening at the College of Music. It is the first time that the students have had a real theater to exhibit their histrionic ability in foreign tongues. Practically all the Spanish students in Huntington Beach High will attend. Anaheim will send a delegation to witness the German comedy. It is seldom that high school students undertake to give plays of such length in foreign languages. Pains have been taken to make it entertaining and not tiresome. The music will be excellent, including a selection from Grand Opera, folk-songs and some of the popular variety. The public is invited to attend and enjoy this miniature trip abroad.

Money was appointed to confer with the committee from the Federation of Societies as to the closing of the moving picture shows and pool rooms on Sunday. A letter was read from Mrs. W. B. Anderson in which she made several requests from the society. A committee was appointed to collect money for an individual communion set to be sent to Mrs. Anderson, Miss Gordon, a missionary who has been working with the Southern mountaineers, was introduced and spoke a few words about her work.

After the business was over an enjoyable social hour was held during which the hostesses served delicious ice cream and cake. They were assisted in serving by Miss Anna McFadden and Mrs. Ray Millman.

Those enjoying the breakfast were Mr. and Mrs. George Decker, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Gowan, Misses Kopplin Decker, Grant, Messrs. Doyle, Bergman and Hebler.

Pretty features of the breakfast were the place cards designed with tiny silver wedding bells, and a gift to the bride and groom of twenty-five years' standing of a set of community silver bouillon spoons.

SUCCESSFUL CONCERT

Salvatore, Harpist, Won Praise from Audience—Local Musicians Achieved Triumphs

The concert given last night at the First Methodist Episcopal church was an undeniable success and was heard by an audience that packed the house. The feature of the event, which was given under the auspices of the church choir, was the playing of the Harpist Salvatore, which was pronounced wonderful. His masterpieces of tenderness were "The Rosary" and the "Prison Scene" from Il Trovatore. He responded generously to encores, and every number from his skillful fingers was enthusiastically greeted.

Another delightful feature of the program was the piano and pipe organ duet, Mrs. W. B. Snow and Miss Zoe Gidden superbly playing Beethoven's "Larghetto." The three choruses, "Hail Smiling Morn," "Spring Song" and "You Stole My Love," were splendidly rendered, and the male quartette number, "Sailors' Chorus," rendered by Messrs. Hilliard, Weber, Baker and Hayes, was admirably given.

The entire program was given in a manner worthy of the highest praise and thoroughly captivated the audience. The privilege of hearing Salvatore in his exquisite playing of the harp was one on which all those present congratulated themselves.

Salvatore's numbers besides those mentioned were "Dolores Mazurka," medley, Annie Laurie, Endearing young Charms, Harpist's Dream.

Visited High School
Prof. and Mrs. McMath of the High School returned last evening from a two days' trip during which Prof. McMath inspected in various high schools certain phases of the work relative to improvement or introduction in the local school. He felt well repaid for the trip, having secured valuable suggestions and impressions. The Huntington Beach and Long Beach schools were visited on Monday, and Tuesday was spent in visits to Santa Monica and Hollywood schools.

American Woman's League
The local chapter of the American Woman's League will meet on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Hawkins, 412 West Second street, after 2 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

Some Corrections
There were several errors and omissions in the account published in yesterday's Register of the annual banquet of the Orange County Medical Association. There was an installation of officers and not an election. Dr. John Wehrly was installed as secretary for the fourth term, instead of Dr. Burlew, as reported. Covers were laid, besides those mentioned yesterday, for Dr. Harry Zaiser and Miss Scarritt, of Orange; Dr. and Mrs. Wehrly. Dr. Hassan is a physician of Buena Park and not of Anaheim.

ANSWER THE CALL
Santa Ana People Have Found That This is Necessary

A cold, a strain, a sudden wrench. A little cause may hurt the kidneys. Spells of backache often follow, or some irregularity of the urine.

A splendid remedy for such attacks, a medicine that has satisfied thousands, is Doan's Kidney Pills, a special kidney remedy.

Many Santa Ana people rely on it. Here is Santa Ana proof.

S. H. Whitehead, 607 W. First St., Santa Ana, Cal., says: "For several years I had pain and weakness in my back. Lifting or the least exertion caused me to suffer. If I took cold, I was almost disabled by a distressing pain in my back. I had much trouble with the kidney secretions, too. Sometimes they passed too frequently, then again the flow was scanty and painful. I could see a change for the better after I had taken a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills. It wasn't long before all the ailments were relieved. It has been a long time since I have had any further need of Doan's Kidney Pills. I am in good shape now and am just as strong a believer in Doan's Kidney Pills as I was when I publicly endorsed them several years ago."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Whitehead had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

FACTORY MEN NEED SUPPORT

Charles Munson appeared before the Chamber of Commerce last night at its regular monthly meeting, in behalf of the Iowa Furnace Company. Mr. Munson said that the company he represented was very anxious to establish a factory in this city and would like the moral and financial support of the chamber. He had appeared before the chamber about nine months ago. The committee appointed at that time to investigate the matter had reported favorably on the project. The Iowa Furnace Company intends to locate its factory here and wants the assistance of the Chamber of Commerce in financing the matter. The company does not require a great amount of money. A stock sale to the amount of about $5000, Mr. Munson said, would be about all that would be necessary. The matter was referred to the manufacturing committee to see what could be done.

Write-up in Monitor
Carl G. Strook appeared before the chamber, stating that the Christian Science Monitor is desirous of obtaining another write-up about Santa Ana and Orange county. The paper has published two or three articles, all boosting the resources of the city and county. The secretary was instructed to prepare another article and to submit it to the publication.

Prize for Photograph
The Rural Californian, a Los Angeles publication, sent a check for $1.50 as a second prize for photographs submitted by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce. As a token of its appreciation of the award the chamber decided to subscribe to the paper for a year.

Experimental Station
Secretary Metzgar stated that the mayor of Covina was here yesterday and endeavored to get the Chamber of Commerce's sanction for the establishment at Covina of the proposed government citrus experiment station. The matter, when brought up last night, was laid on the table owing to the fact that in spite of published reports to the contrary, Orange county still stands a fair chance of getting the station.

Vincent Presided
In the absence of all the officers at last night's meeting, E. E. Vincent presided.

RUSSIA IS READY FOR MOBILIZATION

ST. PETERSBURG, May 7.—Diplomatic circles are considerably exercised over a new order just issued by the Council of Ministers, which authorizes the war minister to lay an embargo on any vessel or vessels of the Russian mercantile marine needed for transportation of war stores and troops fourteen days before formal mobilization orders are issued.

The order provides that on the imposition of the embargo no member of the crew of the vessel affected may leave the ship, and the clerical staff in the shipowner's office must also remain at their posts, all being placed under military law. It is pointed out that under the new law Russia could secretly have everything ready for war a fortnight before a general mobilization order was issued.

GERMAN PRINCE BURNS FINGERS IN BUSINESS

BERLIN, May 7.—Prince Henry of Reuss (younger line) is another German princeling who has burned his fingers trying his hand at business. Not being wealthy enough, or sufficiently important to join the famous Princes' Trust, Henry served an apprenticeship in a Hamburg export house, and after studying at the Cologne Commercial High School, he made a trip to German East Africa, where he acquired rubber plantations. He turned his property into a company capitalized at $160,000 but on the first year's working (1911) there was a net deficit of $10,000. In the second year the loss was $7,300 and in 1913, $37,000. The company is now dismissing many employees and reducing salaries all around.

SUPERSTITIOUS INDIANS BURY MONTH-OLD CHILD

CALCUTTA, May 7.—An extraordinary case of superstition was disclosed by the arrest of three men who were caught in the act of burying alive a baby a month old. The baby was born with a tooth, and a few days afterwards six sucking pigs and a calf died in the neighborhood. Thereupon, a soothsayer declared that the child had a devil, and undertook to exorcise it, but on the following night the father became ill. He then decided that the devil had been too strong for the soothsayer, and that he must get rid of the child to escape its malignity.

HUSBAND AND WIFE

A noted physician has excited England by an elaborate argument to show that nature intended every man to have several wives. He points out that numbers of the races of the world have practiced polygamy in the past and that many do still, and in electrical language he presents the conclusion that the condition must be a natural one.

But he might have gone just one step further and shown just as conclusively that every woman ought to have several husbands. Many nations have lived under polyandry, meaning one woman to many men. Some do still, the Tibetans, for instance.

He might by the same process show that nature intended men to eat one another, to kill off their weakling children, to slaughter the aged as soon as they are past work, to burn dead men's wives, and to sacrifice human beings to religious superstition.

It is more than amazing that in an enlightened land and in this enlightened age a learned man, with no saner argument than this, should outrage sense and sentiment alike by advocating a return to a marriage system which makes women mere slaves, and deprives them of their natural faculty for refining the natures of man.

The people of this age are not seeking excuse for polygamous marriage. It is almost universally recognized that the highest, most beautiful relation between the sexes is that which exists when a man and a woman joyfully remain faithful to one another all their lives. Such a bond makes them lovers, helpmates, comrades. It is the best possible destiny for both.

It gives woman an assured position, an honored place in the community. It endows her with a sense of responsibility. The man's character is subtly influenced by that of his wife. Her tenderness soothes him in weariness and her devotion cheers him in disappointment.

EXCUSES FOR LYING

A French theologian, with the approval of his vicar general, has taken the pains to revise the popular notions of falsehood and simplify the delicate art of veracity.

His definition of a lie is an effort to deceive one who has a right to know the truth. This leaves a wide range for falsehood that is permissible.

The "permissible lies," according to this theory, include those told to guard a secret and those told in self-defense. Thus, he says: A wife may "lie" about her infidelity, a witness in a law court may "lie" if he has reason to fear resentment against the prisoner, a confessor may "lie" about sins already absolved, and any one may "lie" to the enemies of his country, or in any case where his own safety is concerned. And none of these lies will be a lie, "properly so-called."

This means, in short, that a lie is "permissible" whenever it is more convenient than the truth.

And the real philosophy of it is that the only "lies" that are real lies are those told without any definite purpose in view except to astound or entertain.

The attempt to draw a line of distinction between white lies and black ones is not new. But it is somewhat new for a distinguished theologian, with the approval of a vicar general, to attempt to show that fully nine-tenths of the lies told are justifiable.

In the law courts various degrees of truthfulness have already been recognized. An accused man is allowed to plead "Not guilty," without perjury, and perjury itself is of comparatively recent origin, not having been known in law before the time of Elizabeth and still being confined to assertory oaths only.

But the moral aspect of lying is supposed to be different from the legal aspect. And now it appears that a French theologian can present an aspect that is neither moral nor legal.

The law judges a lie from its effect upon the person or persons injured by it. Theologians judge a lie from its results upon the liar's future existence. But there is a nearer and better way of judging, and that is from the effect upon the liar's own character. There is nothing more self-debasing than the habit of lying. The man or woman who has acquired it has lost the highest quality for true usefulness, self-respect and content.

WATER COMMISSION BILL

Riverside Press: In his address before the State Federation of Women's Clubs yesterday Francis Cattle made a strong argument in behalf of the water commission bill which will come before the voters of the state in November. Mr. Cattle is a recognized authority on water matters and as a member of the state conservation commission made a very careful study of this measure. His presentation of the bill and for the benefit of Press readers generally the following extracts from it are given:

In examining into the merits or demerits of such a question as the one before us, it is well to first carefully consider who the proponents of the measure are, and who are the parties opposing it. In this case, the proponents of the law are the members of the state conservation commission. This commission was appointed by the governor under an act of the legislature of this state in the year 1910. This commission was charged with the duty of investigating the conditions of the natural resources of the state, the laws appertaining to these resources, as well as many other natural resources, and to recommend to the legislature of 1912 such bills as in the judgment of the commission would best conserve the natural resources of the state, and bring about their best use.

Acting under the powers vested in the commission by the legislature of 1910, the state conservation commission spent a year and a half in gathering information. During this time practically all laws of the different states of the United States, and of foreign countries were carefully examined and collated, for the purpose of combining the best laws possible to bring about the desired result. During that time this work was being compiled, the commission held many public meetings at different parts of the state to which all interested parties were invited, and asked for their opinion and advice, and criticisms on the different provisions of the proposed law, to the end that all interested parties might have a fair opportunity of presenting their views.

Immediately the bill was introduced into the last legislature of this state, a powerful lobby was established in Sacramento for the sole purpose of defeating this bill. I am advised, by the very best authority, that this lobby was maintained during the entire session of the legislature at an expense, and every legitimate means at its command has been used to defeat the bill, which, however, passed the legislature and received the signature of the governor. Immediately after that, the parties who had opposed the passage of the bill had a referendum circulated and the necessary number of names having been secured, the law is now the subject of referendum in this state.

It would be well for you in considering this bill to pause and consider why this tremendous activity to defeat this measure, and where did the money come from to furnish the opposition, for it cost a lot of money to maintain that lobby and secure the signatures to that referendum petition. Can you believe for a moment that this activity and expense was incurred for the purpose of saving the small water users from the grasp of the monopolist, or is it not more likely that the money to furnish the opposition to this measure came from people who hope to profit by the defeat of the law?

In this connection there comes to my mind these words attributed to ex-Mayor Alexander of Los Angeles on his retirement from office, as I now remember the statement, he said, "I leave my office as I entered, a poor man. During my term of office there have been attempts from two sources to corrupt me, one of these was from the liquor interests and the other from the power interests."

Is that remark not most significant? But why are these people so determined that this law shall not be placed upon the statute book, and a commission appointed for the purpose of guarding the interests of the public at large in that great natural resource of the state water? Up to this time it has been possible to appropriate water for irrigation and power purposes by either using the same, or by filing a notice of appropriation in the office of the county recorder. The latter method gave to the appropriator six months in which to begin operations. This has brought about a most flagrant abuse of the intent of the law, which has been the beneficial use of water. It has been possible under that law for parties who desired to control water to file notice of appropriation, and before the expiration of the six months period which the law gave to begin the work of putting the water to use, another person, probably a friend or partner of the first appropriator would file upon the same stream of water and before that filing expired still another would file upon the water, and so there have been filings upon some of our streams over and over again until it is now almost impossible for the person who really desires to put the water to a beneficial use to clear up these filings and find place and means whereby he can put water to a beneficial use. It has been said that these filings amounted to nothing because the parties making them had failed in not putting the water to a beneficial use during the six months subsequent to such filings, but it is a notorious fact that these claimants to water have fought bitterly for years the attempt of these later appropriators to use the water and this has brought about a tremendous amount of costly and heart-breaking litigation over water rights in this state.

The opponents of this law, without any authority, so far as I have been able to learn, say that the law will unsettle water rights in this state, while the proponents of the bill claim that the effect will be the opposite and, in substantiation of this claim, point to the fact that in our neighboring state of Oregon during the past four years under a state administration similar to that proposed by this law, 1000 law suits have been settled at an average expense of about $10 each, while in the state of Wyoming, during the past 20 years, under a state commission, 15,000 cases have been settled with less than one per cent of these cases appealed from the decisions of the commission. The law, if sustained by the people of this state will compel the users of water to put such water to a beneficial use, or permit others to do so, and in order to be sure that the water will be put to a beneficial use, it is provided that applicants for the use of water shall file with the commission complete information of the proposed work, and show to the commission that the appropriator has funds at his command or knows where he can get them to enable him to carry on his project in a business like way. This does not mean that the man of small means, shall not have the right to appropriate water to the extent that he is able to put the same to beneficial use.

Summing up in just a word the object of this law is to safeguard the interests of the people at large in the water of the streams of California in such manner as to result in the greatest good to the largest number.

Eugene H. Grubb, "potato king" of America and former United States Commissioner to Europe appointed for the purpose of investigating the causes of the poor crops of potatoes in this country has outlined the plans for the world's potato congress to be held at the Panama-Pacific International exposition next year.

Eugene H. Grubb is a brother of City Trustee W. L. Grubb of Santa Ana.

"The potato is the world's greatest food product and the only rival of John D. Rockefeller," said Mr. Grubb recently, as he lamented the falling off of the potato crops in this country during the last decade.

"Few people realize the value of the potato and what it really means to the world. How many Americans realize that several decades ago, when the potato crops of Europe failed, more than a million people died of starvation as direct result and that 250,000 of these famished in Ireland?"

"In the United States the potato crops are exceptionally small to the acre owing to the ignorance of modern scientific methods of cultivation. I don't like to deal in averages. The average cow or the average horse or the average woman or the average man have never counted in the world's history. So why should we speak of average crops?"

"In Europe the good potato grower will get a yield of from 500 to 700 bushels an acre, while in the United States the good farmer will get only one-half as much. If you insist upon a comparison of the averages, however, the American potato grower will obtain only one-third as many bushels to the acre as will the European grower."

"With America's wonderfully fertile soil, its irrigating projects and its excellent type of farmer, the European farmers' records should be broken every year. But the American requires to be educated to the modern methods."

"And that is the reason that the Panama-Pacific International Exposition will offer large rewards of cash and of trophies to the best showing made by American boy and girl potato growers. This, by the way, I believe is the first time that these awards have been announced. We have felt that it is necessary to educate the boys and girls so that when they are grown they will bring the United States to its proper position in the potato-growing industry."

"Utah now has 18,000 boys and girls growing potatoes for annual prizes. Idaho, 8,000, and other states are fastening into line in the educational campaign. It might be interesting to note that in every state where the boys and girls are engaged in this work the potato has excelled the rest of the crops."

"The potato is the only rival of John D. Rockefeller and the first petrol is made from its waste products."

"I believe that the exposition will be a wonderful factor in educating the public to the value of the potato and the farmer to the modern methods of raising them."

"I appreciate the fact that the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is the first large fair to recognize this industry and shall do my best to make the Potato Congress a great success."

Resolution for Paving La Habra
Valley Road is Under Way

Under an ordinance voted favorably upon by the Board of Supervisors yesterday, wagons, buggies and carts traveling the highways at night must bear two lights, a white light in front and a red light at the rear, each with ordinary atmospheric conditions visible 200 feet away.

The state law makes it illegal for motor vehicles to travel at night without lights. This county law will apply to other vehicles, not motor vehicles. The ordinance was prepared by the district attorney at the request of the supervisors, and includes as one of its features provisions against hauling upon state and county highways heavy loads that endanger or damage the highways.

Tires must be in width one inch for every 700 pounds of weight being hauled. It will be against the law for traction engines, etc., with flanges, cleats, etc., on the wheels to travel upon the paved streets. When the wheels are constructed with cleats, etc., close together, an exception is provided. The law will apply to all Orange county outside of incorporated cities.

Lock Votes No
Plans and specifications have been completed by County Surveyor McBride for the proposed paved road between La Habra and Brea on La Mirada and Central avenues, and the matter is set for hearing on June 16. The road is to be paved twenty-two feet wide and five inches thick. The plan as proposed in a resolution passed yesterday is for the county to pay for part of the cost of the paving, the remainder to be met by an assessment district in La Habra Valley. Supervisor Lock voted no on the resolution, declaring that he did so because he believes that all of the cost should be borne by the assessment districts or road districts of that portion of the county, and none of it by the county at large, as proposed. Under the resolution George H. Davis is selected as superintendent at a salary of $5 a day.

Pay Off the Liens
The supervisors ordered warrants drawn so that claims against Withers & Crites, contractors who built the county good road between Orange and Olive, may be met. Liens met were: E. G. Stinson, $173.12; A. Hinckle, $26.25; O. Risbow, $85; J. D. Brown, $26.25; A. Menzenhauf, $61.87. The remainder of Withers & Crites' claim is $3,744.81, which was ordered paid to the contractors.

Board Doings
For preparing Orange county literature to be distributed upon an exposition train, $100 was voted to the Grafton Publishing Company of Los Angeles.

On May 18 bids are to be received for constructing a sewer system for the county farm. W. M. Ward was given permission to buy 225 posts and wire to be used in protecting the Fifth-street bridge. On May 18 bids are to be opened for building a concrete bridge across the Gypsum creek in the Santa Ana canyon.

The hearing of the W. H. Harris road petition was set for June 3. The C. J. Henshaw petition was set for the same date. W. E. Gunnell's petition to close a street at Anaheim was denied.

A district attorney was given authority to start a condemnation suit for a strip of land in the north end of the county, the strip being needed for road purposes.

MIGHT TAKE AWAY FREE
PHONE SERVICE BETWEEN
ORANGE AND SANTA ANA

Orange News: Is Orange facing the prospect of losing free telephone service between the Orange and Santa Ana exchanges? That, it is reported, is within the possibilities, if the railroad commission orders a physical connection between the telephone companies of Orange county as demanded in a complaint recently filed with the railroad commission by the Orange County Associated Chambers of Commerce.

There has been no official statement to that effect issued, by the telephone companies; but telephone men are not hesitating to state that, in the event such an order is made, the telephone companies will retaliate by withdrawing the free switching privileges now enjoyed by several towns in the county.

The principal towns of the county would be affected by such action. Santa Ana and Orange now have free switching, and the privilege extends both to Tustin and Garden Grove, Anaheim and Fullerton have a free exchange on both the Pacific and Home lines, and Placentia and Fullerton have the same privilege. If these privileges are withdrawn, as telephone men claim they can be withdrawn, the business affairs of these several towns will be seriously affected.

The complaint of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, which was drawn by Attorney S. M. Davis, of Santa Ana in behalf of the association, asks the railroad commission to make an order requiring a physical connection between all lines in the county, the Pacific, Home, U. S. Long Distance, Smeltzer, Huntington Beach and Joseph Yoch companies being named. The latter is a privately owned line to Laguna Beach.

In effect, this complaint asks that any subscriber on a Pacific line in the county be permitted to talk with any subscriber on the lines of any other company, and the reverse, on payment of the proper toll charges to be fixed by the railroad commission. It is claimed that a recent decision of a federal court in Oregon has established the principle that such an order is constitutional. An example of the result of such an order would be that a Pacific subscriber in Orange might talk to a Home subscriber in Santa Ana or Anaheim on payment of the proper toll charge.

The Pacific company has filed an answer with the railroad commission in which it protests against any order for a physical connection being made, declaring such an order to be in contravention of constitutional rights as taking property without compensation; as being of no general public interest or necessity, and as being in excess of the powers of the railroad commission.

Attached to the answer, however, is what the company terms a "tender of satisfaction," which is of especial interest to the subscribers of the Orange exchange. The Pacific company agrees to give the Orange subscribers connection with the U. S. Long Distance company, a toll company handling the toll business of all other companies in the county. This would give the Orange subscribers access, on payment of the regular toll, to all Home or other subscribers in the county, and would be exactly the sum of the privileges asked for in the complaint of the Associated Chambers of Commerce. The Pacific company agrees to serve the Smeltzer company in the same manner with the Pacific toll lines.

As to other communities besides Orange and Smeltzer, the Pacific company points out that they have parallel systems and have free access to both systems—a condition which does not obtain in Orange. While other communities may, if they so desire, secure connection with all other subscribers in the county by employing two telephone systems, Orange and Smeltzer cannot do so because of having but a single system. Hence, the concession to these two communities.

Summing up the situation, it appears that Orange is fortunate in being guaranteed access to all telephone subscribers in the county, if the case before the commission is dismissed.

If it is pressed and the commission grants the order for a physical connection, other communities may have access to all telephone subscribers in the county on payment of toll, but some of the larger towns may lose a very valuable privilege of free exchange which they now possess.

REPUBLICAN CLUB PRESENTS
C. C. CHAPMAN AS CANDIDATE
FOR GUBERNATORIAL NOMINEE

The Lincoln Republican Club last night passed a resolution launching the boom of C. C. Chapman of Fullerton as a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. The resolution at considerable length, declares against the present state administration, and concludes with a recommendation of Chapman. The resolution is addressed to the Republicans of the state, and is meant as a launching action.

Chapman is down as one of the speakers at the Republican rally to be held in Los Angeles tonight, and a good many local people are of the opinion that Chapman is slated to become the Republican candidate to oppose Governor Johnson. Dr. Norman Bridges has declined to run, and the indications are that the leaders favor Chapman over Capt. Fredericks of Los Angeles, who has been spoken of frequently as a probable candidate.

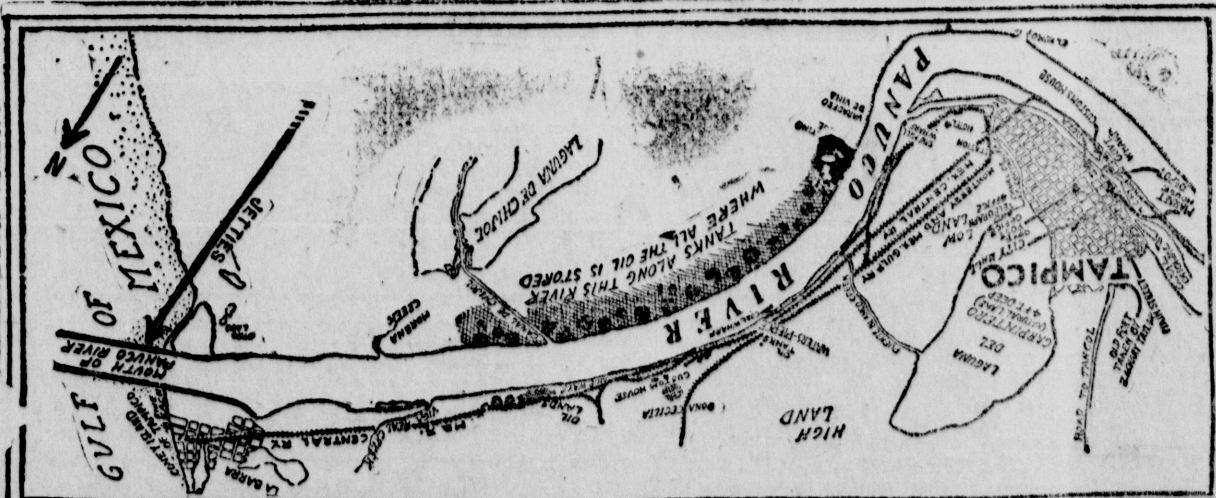

The resolution passed by the club here was read by the secretary, E. S. Wallace, and was adopted. It gives Chapman the following resolution: "Resolved by the Lincoln Republican Club of Orange County, that we take great pride and pleasure in presenting our own sterling and splendidly-equipped citizen, the Hon. Charles C. Chapman, as a candidate for governor of California, and announce to the people of this state that in such a man they need have no fear as to his fitness, either as a candidate or the state's chief executive. Our candidate is a sound, careful, successful business man, a thoroughly conscientious gentleman and a staunch and uncompromising Republican of the type which gave this nation the greatest prosperity and prestige it has ever known. Mr. Chapman is a typical Californian, keenly alive to the necessities of this great state and broad-minded and liberal enough to deal with any and all problems which may arise; and, be it further "Resolved, that the Lincoln Republican Club of Orange County earnestly requests all Republicans and Republican organizations of California to consider carefully the splendid character, ability and achievements of the Hon. Charles C. Chapman, and extends a strong appeal for his support throughout the state, believing that his nomination would mean an overwhelming Republican victory in November."

TAMPICO, WHICH MAY BE THE NEXT SCENE OF NAVAL ACTION IN MEXICO

Tampico, where the trouble between the Huerta troops and the naval forces of the United States under Admiral Mayo, which precipitated the war, will probably be the next Mexican port to be taken by the navy. The port can be captured with little trouble. There are many Americans there now who fear an uprising in which they will be injured unless the difficulty is carefully handled. As early as Monday it was the intention of Admiral Mayo to order the foreign vessels out of the port, but he delayed for fear that it would inflame the natives against the foreigners remaining on shore.

ELECTRIC LIGHT FOR CURE OF TUBERCULOSIS

COPENHAGEN, May 7.—Some remarkable results in the treatment by electric light of "surgical tuberculosis" are announced by Dr. Reyn. head of the Finsen Light Institute. A number of patients who otherwise would have had to undergo operations have been discharged as cured, while many others have shown wonderful improvement.

The treatment consists in placing the patient about a yard's distance in front of an ordinary arc lamp and directing the rays against the affected parts for periods of from fifteen minutes at first to two hours and a half, the length of time being gradually increased from day to day. Dr. Reyn. believes that the light cure may also prove useful in cases of lung tuberculosis, but this has not yet been demonstrated.

Fullerton Daily Tribune: It is now believed the will of the late Mrs. J. A. Smith will be contested, as it is stated that her heirs are not satisfied with the division of the property. A contest may be made on the grounds that Mrs. Smith was not in her right mind at the time she made the will. Property worth over $40,000, including a valuable orange grove at Yorba Linda, was left to the Masonic lodge of Fullerton and to a Masonic lodge back east, and a small amount of cash only was left to Mrs. Smith's relatives.

WOMEN'S FADS AND FANCIES

By Margaret Mason

NEW YORK, May 7.—Not only are evening gowns absolutely guiltless of even a hint of a sleeve, but even the coats have the habit. Most of the smartest loose wraps and capes and coats are sleeveless and slip their empty armholes over fair feminine arms with all the careless abandon of a perfectly good masculine waistcoat. What is lost at one extremity, however, is now made up at the other for protection petticoats have returned again to the fold or rather to enfold slender ankles in scant white ruffles of sheerest organdy or Paris muslin. They are so narrow and so thin that they neither add bulk to the ankle line nor hide any of it. They quaintly resemble the old style pantalets as they peep out from under the short, much edged taffeta skirts of the moments and are indeed a far cry from the petticoats of yore.

Indeed, in spite of the fact that they really are petticoats they are never designated as such by the designers and dressmakers but answer the name of underskirts or pantalet frills.

Appropos of not calling a spade a spade you must never make the shocking mistake of calling a separate waist a waist—mercy no, Clarissa, it's a blouse. Whatever is in a name in this case there isn't much in a blouse when it comes to material. Just two layers of chiffon or a single thickness or rather thinness, of bookmuslin hem-stitched around the open throat line, down the front and around the plain three-quarter slightly flaring sleeves, makes up some of the chicest new models.

For an ornate touch they rely on a fantastic girdle and gorgeously tinted usually with vestee, cuffs and collar of handkerchief linen promise great popularity for the summer.

Always the belt or girdle plays a striking part in the effective ensemble of the blouse. The favorite Roman stripes are shown in smart shirtings of both silk and madras for the more tailored blouses and those to be worn with the sport skirts arms and coats.

It is no longer a question of "Button, button, who's got the button?" since every woman seems to have every button tacked on to every available space or cranny of some one or two of her summer costumes.

Jet buttons are very smart on frocks and suits of buff toned taffeta, but ball shaped buttons covered in the same taffeta as the gown are the chosen trimming in a straight row down the center of the new tight fitting basque models. Cord buttons are also a favorite garnishment, particularly on volle and other cotton frock material frocks.

Your dress may lack a few little essentials like sleeves or even a whole waist for in many instances a girdle extended above the bust line is as good as a regular bodice any evening but let it lack buttons and it is sartorially damned.

Leaping lightly from buttons to buttonholes it is interesting to note that the bound and corded button holes are now things of the past and the good old honest-to-goodness normal button-hole worked in thread has returned to its own. Plackets also now have their proper place and appear as they should according to best placket regulations in the middle of the back of the skirt. Even if there is no seam there, a slit is made for the placket any way so anxious is it to return to its old home after a wandering life for the last two or three seasons and transitory settlements in the front of the skirt at the side or on one hip.

It is a sad blow to all 1914 Cinderellas that loud, pointed vamps are the rage in the slipper line. It seems rather perverse that Americans should take up the long pointed slipper and shoe just when it has been cast aside by the smart Parisian for the dainty short vamps of the erstwhile American footwear. Brought into even more prominence by the shortwater skirts the up-to-date shod foot will prove exclusively that it is shoes rather than brains that make large understandings.

HERE IS MILADY'S SPRING WALKING SUIT

Fashion has decreed this jacket suit for walking this spring. It is very long and very narrow at the bottom. In fact, walking in it must be done with care, for the step will not be within six inches of a natural stride. Of course, this makes walking more difficult and thereby causes more exercise. But the maker of it calls it an "ideal walking suit."

SPECIAL WASHINGTON LETTER

By Burton K. Standish

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Uncle Sam is keeping continuous guard against invasion. The enemies against which a trained corps of men are fighting are animal, bird, insect and vegetable pests. Mrs. Charles W. Morse, whose pet ants were adjudged "undesirable" was the most recent sufferer by the regulation. The most classic of all examples is the English sparrow. But since 1905, the government has strong weapons in quarantine laws passed that year, to prevent introduction of undesirable living things.

The most destructive pest ever introduced into the United States is the gypsy moth. It was in 1869 that Trouvelot, an astronomer at Harvard University and an amateur entomologist of note, conceived the idea of breeding a hardy worm which would revolutionize the silk industry. He imported some gypsy moths from France, expecting to cross them with some native species. One day he left a window in his Medford home open. When he returned a mass of eggs laid by his gypsy visitors had disappeared—apparently it had blown out of the window.

At this point Trouvelot's experiments ceased. But their results did not. They are still with us and have cost the country millions of dollars. New England has been the hardest sufferer. For twenty years the gypsy moth attracted no attention. People of Medford, Mass., wondered at the destruction of their trees, but the damage remained local. Then, suddenly, the pest spread. Since then bitter warfare has been waged against it, and the victory is not yet won. The New England states alone spend spend thousands in the fight.

A great many people innocently bring home curios, plants and animals that are active agents of mischief. Hundreds of people have attempted to bring into the country as a curiosity the Australian flying fox. Unknown in the United States these overgrown bats, which oftentimes measure five feet across the wings are Australia's greatest pests. They ruin many orchards in their habitat.

The mongoose is another creature which individuals persist in trying to import. Rudyard Kipling wrote interestingly about Rikki-tikki-tava, in

"The Jungle Book," but the animal isn't by any means a charming, nice mannered creature. In India he is valuable because he kills snakes. But he is also partial to chickens, young pigs, kids, lambs, puppies, kittens and certain vegetables and fruits. Therefore, he is banned from America. Once in a while, however, individuals succeed in slipping one of the animals in. A Cape Cod farmer who had lost scores of chickens finally killed an animal who was apparently responsible for the damage. There was a great hue and cry about the new species of skunk he had discovered, but finally the authorities identified the little beast as a mongoose. How he got in nobody has yet found out.

Jamaica is alive with the pest, introduced by some misguided individual who thought they would rid the island of rats which caused havoc in the sugar cane fields. It was in 1872 that four males and five females were introduced. Their number increased amazingly and in 1890 the government began fighting them. Still another instance of pests was the introduction of rabbits in Australia. They were originally brought to the island to furnish early settlers with sport. How expensive that sport is didn't appear until the bunnies had overrun the island. The government has spent millions fighting the pest, without having apparently reduced the number in the least.

The great danger about importing any kind of animal or bird or insect is that environment may change them completely. They may be perfectly proper things in their native haunts but horribly mischievous in their new surroundings. Biologists can't predict their habits. It is a fact, however, that a great majority of the pests introduced here have been vastly more destructive in America than they were abroad. They are freed from natural enemies—the natural "balance" is lost—they find a longer summer breeding season and the larger scale on which American agriculture is conducted does not permit as readily of restrictive measures as do the limited holdings and intensive cultivation of Europe. Europe, it should be mentioned, has also suffered from pests sent to its shores from America, although for some curious reason native American pests do not seem to thrive in their transplanted state abroad. One notable exception, however, is the phylloxera, a grape vine disease, introduced in France in 1859, which has devastated vineyards there. The San Jose scale, a pest of the first magnitude, was brought into California by an ardent horticulturist from China, on some Chinese apple trees. Incidentally, it is curious to note that from California the pest re-crossed the Pacific and in its invigorated form, created havoc in Japan, where it had always been present, but never had given real trouble.

Secretary Bryan found himself confronted with the quarantine rule when customs officials barred his llama, which was excluded with six others, because they were suffering from the mange and also because of the fear they might bring with them the dread foot and mouth disease.

PEACE TREATY SIGNED WITH AUSTRIA BY U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Secretary Bryan and Dr. Constantin T. Dumba, Austria-Hungarian ambassador, signed yesterday a convention extending for another period of five years the limited arbitration treaty between the United States and Austria-Hungary.

Half Hundred Guests Join in Progressive Whist at the C. S. Kendall Home

Very delightful was the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Kendall last evening when they opened their attractive Cypress avenue home to over half a hundred of their friends. The entertainment offered was progressive whist.

The house was fragrant and lovely with quantities of pink and white carnations disposed in vases, brown baskets and at all possible points where the sweet flowers could be prettily displayed. Fourteen tables of players joined in the whist games, and when points were counted, Mrs. W. E. Winslow and E. B. Trago were awarded first prizes for high score; Mrs. John Wehrly and Henry Rutherford winning second prizes. The players to be consoled were Mrs. George Balderston and Theo. A. Winbiger, Harry and Charles Kendall and Dix McNeil assisted the hostess in keeping score.

Delectable refreshments were served in two courses on the small tables which were centered with pink tulip-trimmed baskets, the pink and white color scheme being seen in the dainty viands.

Women's Missionary Meeting
The Women's Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian church held a most interesting meeting yesterday afternoon in the church, the parlors being well filled with members and friends of the society. Mrs. Robert McFadden, Mrs. D. L. Mitchell, Mrs. Pressley Thompson and Mrs. Juliette Smith were hostesses for the afternoon.

The president, Mrs. J. D. Kennedy, presided during the program. The subject discussed was "The King's Treasury." Mrs. W. M. Smart read a splendid paper on "The Idea of Missionary Giving" and Mrs. S. H. Finley's subject was "Sitting at the Feet of Jesus." "Prayer as a Working Force" was talked on by the members of the society. Roll call was answered with Bible verses on "Giving." Mrs. Wm. Smart and Mrs. J. A. Raitt each gave very interesting reports from the Federation of Missionary Societies which was held in Santa Ana last week. The president, Mrs. J. G. Kennedy, presided during the program.

SUCCESSFUL CONCERT

Salvatore, Harpist, Won Praise from Audience—Local Musicians Achieved Triumphs

The concert given last night at the First Methodist Episcopal church was an undeniable success and was heard by an audience that packed the house. The feature of the event, which was given under the auspices of the church choir, was the playing of the Harpist Salvatore, which was pronounced wonderful. His masterpieces of tenderness were "The Rosary" and "The Prison Scene" from Il Trovatore. He responded generously to encores, and every number from his skillful fingers was enthusiastically greeted.

Another delightful feature of the program was the piano and pipe organ duet, Mrs. W. B. Snow and Miss Zoe Gidden superbly playing Beethoven's "Larghetto." The three choruses, "Hail Smiling Morn," "Spring Song" and "You Stole My Love," were splendidly rendered, and the male quartette number, "Sailors' Chorus," rendered by Messrs. Hillyard, Weber, Baker and Hayes, was admirably given.

The entire program was given in a manner worthy of the highest praise and thoroughly captivated the audience. The privilege of hearing Salvatore in his exquisite playing of the harp was one on which all those present congratulated themselves.

Salvatore's numbers, besides those mentioned were "Dolores Mazurka," medley, Annie Laurie, Endearing young Charms, Harpist's Dream.

Some Corrections

There were several errors and omissions in the account published in yesterday's Register of the annual banquet of the Orange County Medical Association. There was an installation of officers and not an election. Dr. John Wehrly was installed as secretary for the fourth term, instead of Dr. Burlew, as reported. Covers were laid, besides those mentioned yesterday, for Dr. Harry Zaiser and Miss Scarritt, of Orange; Dr. and Mrs. Wehrly. Dr. Hassan is a physician of Buena Park and not of Anaheim.

Commandery Elects

Thomas, Generalissimo; A. R. Hervey, Captain-General; Arthur Staley, Senior Warden; Charles D. Brown, Junior Warden; William F. Lutz, treasurer; B. Uttley, record r.

Kensington Party

On Tuesday afternoon a pretty Kensington party was given by Mrs. J. M. Raugh at her East Fourth street home in honor of Mrs. Backus of Berkeley, who is here as a guest of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Heil.

After a delightful afternoon of conversation and needlework, a delicious two-course collation was served on small tables, delicate Cecil Bruners in vases centering each table. May Basket place cards marked covers for the guest of honor, Mrs. Backus, the hostess, and the following ladies: Mrs. John Wehrly, Mrs. W. B. Snow, Mrs. J. G. Quick, Mrs. C. W. Burns, Mrs. J. A. At Intermediate School

The Parent-Teachers' Association of the Intermediate school met on Wednesday afternoon in the Art room of the Commercial building. After listening to two piano solos by boys from the school, the matter of graduation exercises and costumes was taken up.

Miss Bemus explained that since this is the first class to be graduated from the Intermediate school, and the first to demonstrate the new system, it is designed to make the closing exercises as fully representative as possible.

Miss Roberts gave an outline of the program as planned, and pointed out the necessity for co-operation on the part of pupils and parents to make the work a success. The subject of girls' graduation costumes was next discussed and a resolution passed urging all mothers to observe the utmost simplicity in the attire of their daughters for this occasion.

Arrangements were talked over for the school fair to be held next Thursday, and the appointment of judges for the various exhibits arranged for. The association resolved itself into a committee to arrange banquets for the graduating class, as an expression of their interest and good will.

Miss Clinger, with Mesdames Conson and Baker, were appointed a committee to nominate next year's officers, and report at the June meeting.

AMUSEMENTS

At Clune's, Thursday and Friday Only "The Crucible of Fate." Vitaphone drama, two reels of splendidly made scenes, visualizing a potential plot that develops naturally—an affluent and adoring husband, a devoted wife, and a baby to weld the happy union—what more can be desired to make life paradisaical? But the woman's vacillating nature aided by a lack of domestic duties induce her to dabble in amateur dramatics. Forgetting her husband and child in her histrionic ambitions, she ruins her own life and that of her husband. It is a touching picture and well acted and produced. The beautiful and wonderfully clever little girl in the cast deserves special mention.

Child Cross? Feverish? Sick?
A cross, peevish, listless child, with coated tongue, pale, doesn't sleep; eats sometimes very little, then again ravenously; stomach sour, breath fetid; pains in stomach, with diarrhea; grinds teeth while asleep, and starts up with terror—all suggest a worm killer—something that expels worms, and almost every child has them. Kickapoo Worm Killer is needed. Get a box today. Start at once. You won't have to coax as Kickapoo Worm Killer is a candy confection. Expels the worms, the cause of your child's trouble. 25c, at your druggist—Advertisement.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET
A crate of the first cantaloupes of the season from Imperial Valley was received on the Ninth-street market yesterday. One or two diminutive melons also reached the public market. The valley melons are now being shipped east in small quantities, but the season of active distribution will not begin for several weeks.

There was a good supply of cherries, which in most instances met with a rather active demand. Quotations on the fruit were 12½ to 17½ cents. Loquats were at 46¢ cents, and the supply is keeping pace with the demand, if anything, there is likely to be a small over-supply. A few apricots are selling at fancy prices. Some come in from Arizona, and others from Coachella Valley.

Strawberries and blackberries are stronger, but raspberries are easy. The first mentioned are selling around 4 cents a basket, while blackberries bring 8 to 9 cents, and raspberries 7 cents a basket.

Considerable asparagus is received, but the demand for the vegetable continues good. Rhubarb is selling around $1 a box, and is in good supply. Green corn was reduced to 96 cents a dozen. Egg plant was somewhat cheaper, 14 to 15 cents a pound. Wax beans were off 7 to 9 cents a pound. The price of butter and eggs were off 1 cent each yesterday. The decline is not regarded as significant of any particular conditions.

After Dinner Chats With Apricot Growers

By J. G. Berneike, M. D.

The present and most pronounced purpose of my chats has been accomplished. It is reliably rumored that good offers are being made to growers for pits and dried fruit. Offers of 8 cents to 10½ cents more recently are reported from the north; of 10 cents in Orange county. I certainly hope that no apricot grower in Orange county will be foolish enough to sell for less than 8 cents. But if there is any such, he will find no difficulty in finding a score of buyers to relieve him of his fruit in a hurry. Quotations in the California Fruit Grower for the 1914 crop are such that the grower may look for about 10 cents per lb. net. Undoubtedly the shortage in the prune crop is helping to raise the price of apricots.

There is no doubt about there being a good apricot crop in our county and in the state, but not a record crop. There is no doubt but what under such conditions in former years, before the associations were in the field, our growers would have fallen over each other to sell at 6 to 7 cents a pound. That they were able last year to realize 10 to 12 cents per lb., and that they will be able this year to realize about 10 cents per lb. is due solely to the fact that some of the growers have organized, and they are bringing information to the growers, together with backbone.

These organized growers are putting all the unorganized growers under moral obligation. Will the latter respond? Will they join the union of their class? Or will they continue to hold back in distrust and selfishness? I like the "Farmers' Trust." The farmers that trust one another to do their business collectively, and no longer trust the speculators and rascals to do their business for them. One of our local packers said last year, that there had been less speculation in apricots than there had been before. So it strikes me that even our local buyers are benefited by the fact that speculative buyers are ruled out, and the buying is limited to what may be called legitimate business. The local buyer gets just as good a commission when the grower is paid a good price as he does when the grower is paid a starvation price, and he does not create ill feeling in the grower.

The eastern buyers are benefitted when the price is stable. And as long as the price is fair and reasonable there is not the least difficulty in disposing even of a bumper crop. The directors of the Orange County Dried Fruit Association have signed the incorporation papers of the new organization, which will be known as the Orange County Dried Fruit Association, and the document is on its way to the Secretary of State. I think of this as signing the Declaration of Independence of the apricot growers, and it will carry with it as great a significance as was the organization of our association four years ago.

By the way, one of the real estate agents said to me the other day that for the last five years the apricot growers have received a good price for their fruit, and that there is quite an appreciation in apricot orchard property. Now, it is not five years, but only four years, since this has been the case, and it dates back exactly to the year 1910 when the associations in Orange county and Ventura county were started.

What the separate associations accomplished in a small way will be accomplished in a much larger way by the union of associations in the Exchange. A few weeks ago I told you there were twenty-two, today there are twenty-four, and before you read this there will be at least twenty-five. Whoever believes in associations must logically believe in the union of associations such as we have in the Exchange. And it was therefore no surprise to find how strongly the movement toward reorganization and affiliation with the Exchange took hold of our membership.

The reorganization was necessary only to conform to the state law applying to co-operative non-profit associations. All the associations belonging to the Exchange are organized under this law. Our Dried Fruit Association was organized under an earlier law, and this fact prevented our affiliation. This obstacle has now been overcome and we look forward to greater success. One of the immediate benefits of the Exchange is that we are kept in constant touch with all other associations in the state, that we get quick and reliable information about crop conditions elsewhere, that we are always promptly informed concerning market conditions, that we do not compete against each other. It will be possible for the individual associations to cut down overhead expenses of management, because of one central selling agency. Thus we can give to the grower the benefit of economy. The Exchange will be able to come nearer the consumer through the parcel post, as soon as this becomes feasible. An association could not accomplish this cheaply enough, because it will require expensive advertising, and the establishment of parcels post agents in the large cities, to whom fruit can be sent in carload lots to be distributed by parcel post in the first and second zones. Thus the consumer can and should be benefited by the associations of producers.

The idea has been advanced of sending a man east to sell our dried fruit direct to the consumer. The aim is good, but the thing won't work. Whoever has tried canvassing or peddling an honest article will buy "Hands off." People will buy fake articles from a fakir, but honest goods from an honest peddler? That is different. Very few men make their salt at the business. So that method of selling the dried fruit crop of California is out of the question. It would be a wasteful method at best. The Exchange will handle so large a volume of business as will command a large influence in the business world. This will enable it to get low interest rates on advances made to growers, and in a measure will serve as a rural credit system. It will command a wider market, and will help in a better distribution of dried fruits and opening up of new markets. It will go a long way to help determine a price which shall be fair to the producer and move the crop with reasonable time, and then to steady this price.

We may expect these helpful tendencies to exert themselves more and more with the growth of the Exchange, and with the experience gained. The growers themselves are the directors of the Exchange, and they have the moulding of it in their own hands.

NEWSY NEWS FROM NEW YORK

By Carlton Ten Eyck

NEW YORK, May 7.—Ask anyone you know if he could get along without a telephone in his home and it's ten to one but that he'd answer in the negative. Then ask any business man you meet, whether you know him or not how long his business would last if he didn't have a telephone. You'd probably be surprised if you hit one man in a thousand by mere chance, and he replied:

"Why, I don't have a telephone in my place of business. It would ruin me in no time."

And there you are. It's a true story. There are some several hundred of more men in big New York who quake every time they hear the word telephone. They are men who conduct studios of dramatic instruction. One such individual, a few days ago, told why he wouldn't have a telephone.

"You see, it's this way," he explained. "The ten or twelve hours a day that I am in my studio giving lessons, are all busy hours. The work of instructing would-be actors and actresses, and coaching those who have made their name, is not like other work. In other lines, a man can very easily drop his work for the nonce, pick up the telephone for a chat, and then resume his work where he had left off."

"There's just the rub. In my work, I have to carry through what is started. Imagine getting a pupil into the proper atmosphere of some strongly emotional piece of acting and just at the crisis, suddenly the telephone bell jingles. I can't say, 'Hold that pose and keep your feelings just as they are for a few minutes, please.' It would not only ruin the scene, but would throw a damper on the pupil whether novice or professional, that couldn't be remedied. Then, too, a student of the drama, one who really wants to make his living by acting, must learn early that the work on the stage is real WORK. The hardest part of that work is regularity. You know, any other business man, excepting a newspaper reporter (and reporters are good business men) can get to his office a little late and speed up to make up for lost time. Not so with an actor. Imagine one rushing onto the stage even two minutes late after his cue had come, and hurriedly saying his lines fast enough to catch up with the others."

"Well, the point is this: The dramatic student MUST learn punctuality and regularity in attendance. If he knows there is a telephone at the studio he will be more likely to call up to say he will be a few minutes late, or that he can't get around today and to ask that the lesson be postponed. That's the reason I wouldn't have a telephone about the place. I've had experience. Telephones are essential to almost every other line of work, but they are a big hindrance with teachers of dramatic art."

In the way. They cost a lot of money to take care of. There were so many of them that when one of the little tots died, nobody cared very much excepting perhaps the mother or father. Even these two, many times were glad baby had gotten away from the East Side's sordidness and misery. But now it's different. Babies are now a source of income.

They are "rented out" to those who have none, for a few hours at a time, as "property" in the tragedies of the East Side. The authorities, since making this discovery a few days ago have tried to stop it. They may succeed; but here's the story:

Chief Magistrate McAdoo, after a dozen or more minor cases against women had been called, began to wonder where all the babies, each one had, came from. He had noticed one, a big-eyed, pudgy little girl in particular, among seven that one defendant had with her when she appeared to answer to a charge of keeping an unsanitary home. The woman didn't deny that her kitchen and bedrooms and other rooms were unsanitary. She meekly and dolefully pointed to the flock of children who hung to her skirts and said they kept her so busy she had little time to do any fancy cleaning about her house. The chief magistrate let her off with a suspended sentence. Imagine the judge's surprise a few minutes later, when another woman appeared on a somewhat similar charge with a large flock of children at her skirts and one big-eyed, pudgy little girl in her arms. "Is that your child," thundered the court. "No sir," said the woman, actually startled into the truth.

An investigation showed that the child was not the daughter of the first woman. That one, big-eyed, pudgy little girl had no mother. Her father "let her out," it was discovered, as scores of other parents did with their children, to a man, who in turn furnished a dozen children if wanted, to any woman or man who had to answer to a minor charge, and who wanted to prevail on the sympathies of the court through the children, and had the money to hire them.

FACTORY MEN NEED SUPPORT

Charles Munson appeared before the Chamber of Commerce last night at its regular monthly meeting, in behalf of the Iowa Furnace Company. Mr. Munson said that the company he represented was very anxious to establish a factory in this city and would like the moral and financial support of the chamber. He had appeared before the chamber about nine months ago. The committee appointed at that time to investigate the matter had reported favorably on the project. The Iowa Furnace Company intends to locate its factory here and wants the assistance of the Chamber of Commerce in financing the matter. The company does not require a great amount of money. A stock sale to the amount of about $5000, Mr. Munson said, would be about all that would be necessary. The matter was referred to the manufacturing committee to see what could be done.
Write-up in Monitor
Carl G. Stroek appeared before the

Prize for Photograph
The Rural Californian, a Los Angeles publication, sent a check for $150 as a second prize for photographs submitted by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce. As a token of its appreciation of the award the chamber decided to subscribe to the paper for a year.
Experimental Station
Secretary Metzgar stated that the mayor of Covina was here day before yesterday and endeavored to get the Chamber of Commerce's sanction for the establishment at Covina of the proposed government citrus experimental station. The matter, when brought up last night, was laid on the table owing to the fact that in spite of published reports to the contrary, Orange county still stands a fair chance of getting the station.

RUSSIA IS READY FOR MOBILIZATION

ST. PETERSBURG, May 7.—Diplomatic circles are considerably exercised over a new order just issued by the Council of Ministers, which authorizes the war minister to lay an embargo on any vessel or vessels of the Russian mercantile marine needed for transportation of war stores and troops fourteen days before formal mobilization orders are issued.
The order provides that on the imposition of the embargo no member of the crew of the vessel affected may leave the ship, and the clerical staff in the shipowner's office must also remain at their posts, all being placed under military law. It is pointed out that under the new law Russia could secretly have everything ready for war a fortnight before a general mobilization order was issued.

GERMAN PRINCE BURNS FINGERS IN BUSINESS

BERLIN, May 7.—Prince Henry of Reuss (younger line) is another German princeling who has burned his fingers trying his hand at business. Not being wealthy enough, or sufficiently important to join the famous Princes' Trust, Henry served an apprenticeship in a Hamburg export house, and after studying at the Cologne Commercial High School, he made a trip to German East Africa, where he acquired rubber plantations. He turned his property into a company capitalized at $160,000 but on the first year's working (1911) there was a net deficit of $10,000. In the second year the loss was $7,300 and in 1913, $37,000. The company is now dismissing many employees and reducing salaries all around.

SUPERSTITIOUS INDIANS BURY MONTH-OLD CHILD

CALCUTTA, May 7.—An extraordinary case of superstition was disclosed by the arrest of three men who were caught in the act of burying alive a baby a month old. The baby was born with a tooth, and a few days afterwards six suckling pigs and a calf died in the neighborhood. Thereupon, a soothsayer declared that the child had a devil, and undertook to exorcise it, but on the following night the father became ill. He then decided that the devil had been too strong for the soothsayer, and that he must get rid of the child to escape its malignity.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS
EVERY VEHICLE

LAW NOT TO APPLY
INSIDE THE CITIES

Resolution for Paving La Habra
Valley Road is Under Way

Under an ordinance voted favorably upon by the Board of Supervisors yesterday, wagons, buggies and carts traveling the highways at night must bear two lights, a white light in front and a red light at the rear, each with ordinary atmospheric conditions visible 200 feet away.

The state law makes it illegal for motor vehicles to travel at night without lights. This county law will apply to other vehicles, not motor vehicles.

The ordinance was prepared by the district attorney at the request of the supervisors, and includes as one of its features provisions against hauling upon state and county highways heavy loads that endanger or damage the highways.

Tires must be in width one inch for every 700 pounds of weight being hauled. It will be against the law for traction engines, etc., with flanges, cleats, etc., on the wheels to travel upon the paved streets. When the wheels are constructed with cleats, etc., close together, an exception is provided. The law will apply to all Orange county outside of incorporated cities.

Leck Votes No
Plans and specifications have been completed by County Surveyor McBride for the proposed paved road between La Habra and Brea on La Mirada and Central avenues, and the matter is set for hearing on June 16.

The road is to be paved twenty-two feet wide and five inches thick. The plan as proposed in a resolution passed yesterday is for the county to pay for part of the cost of the paving, the remainder to be met by an assessment district in La Habra Valley. Supervisor Leck voted no on the resolution, declaring that he did so because he believes that all of the cost should be borne by the assessment districts or road districts of that portion of the county, and none of it by the county at large, as proposed. Under the resolution George H. Davis is selected as superintendent at a salary of $5 a day.

Pay Off the Liens
The supervisors ordered warrants drawn so that claims against Withers & Crites, contractors who built the county good road between Orange and Olive, may be met. Liens met were: E. G. Stinson, $173.12; A. Hince, $26.25; O. Risbow, $85; J. D. Brown, $56.25; A. Menzenhauf, $61.87. The remainder of Withers & Crites' claim is $3,744.81, which was ordered paid to the contractors.

Board Doings
For preparing Orange county literature to be distributed upon an exposition train, $100 was voted to the Gratton Publishing Company of Los Angeles.

On May 18 bids are to be received for constructing a sewer system for the county farm.

W. M. Ward was given permission to buy 225 posts and wire to be used in protecting the Fifth-street bridge.

On May 18 bids are to be opened for building a concrete bridge across the Gypsum creek in the Santa Ana canyon.

The hearing of the W. H. Harris road petition was set for June 3. The C. J. Henshaw petition was set for the same date. W. E. Gunnell's petition to close a street at Anaheim was denied.

A district attorney was given authority to start a condemnation suit for a strip of land in the north end of the county, the strip being needed for road purposes.

MIGHT TAKE AWAY FREE
PHONE SERVICE BETWEEN
ORANGE AND SANTA ANA

Orange News: Is Orange facing the prospect of losing free telephone service between the Orange and Santa Ana exchanges? That, it is reported, is within the possibilities, if the railroad commission orders a physical connection between the telephone companies of Orange county as demanded in a complaint recently filed with the railroad commission by the Orange County Associated Chambers of Commerce.

There has been no official statement to that effect issued by the telephone companies; but telephone men are not hesitating to state that, in the event such an order is made, the telephone companies will retaliate by withdrawing the free switching privileges now enjoyed by several towns in the county.

The principal towns of the county would be affected by such action. Santa Ana and Orange now have free switching, and the privilege extends both to Tustin and Garden Grove, Anaheim and Fullerton have a free exchange on both the Pacific and Home lines, and Placentia and Fullerton have the same privilege. If these privileges are withdrawn, as telephone men claim they can be withdrawn, the business affairs of these several towns will be seriously affected.

The complaint of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, which was drawn by Attorney S. M. Davis, of Santa Ana in behalf of the association, asks the railroad commission to make an order requiring a physical connection between all lines in the county, the Pacific, Home, U. S. Long Distance, Smeltzer, Huntington Beach and Joseph Yoch companies being named. The latter is a privately owned line to Laguna Beach.

In effect, this complaint asks that any subscriber on a Pacific line in the county be permitted to talk with any subscriber on the lines of any other company, and the reverse, on payment of the proper toll charges to be fixed by the railroad commission. It is claimed that a recent decision of a federal court in Oregon has established the principle that such an order is constitutional. An example of the result of such an order would be that a Pacific subscriber in Orange

C. C. CHAPMAN AS CANDIDATE
FOR GUBERNATORIAL NOMINEE

The Lincoln Republican Club last night passed a resolution launching the boom of C. C. Chapman of Fullerton as a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. The resolution at considerable length declares against the present state administration, and concludes with a recommendation of Chapman. The resolution is addressed to the Republicans of the state, and is meant as a launching action.

Chapman is down as one of the speakers at the Republican rally to be held in Los Angeles tonight, and a good many local people are of the opinion that Chapman is slated to become the Republican candidate to oppose Governor Johnson. Dr. Norman Bridges has declined to run, and the indications are that the leaders favor Chapman over Capt. Fredericks of Los Angeles, who has been spoken of frequently as a probable candidate.

The resolution passed by the club here was read by the secretary, E. S. Wallace, and was adopted. It gives Chapman the following resolution:

"Resolved by the Lincoln Republican Club of Orange County, that we take great pride and pleasure in presenting our own sterling and splendidly-equipped citizen, the Hon. Charles C. Chapman, as a candidate for governor of California, and announce to the people of this state that in such a man they need have no fear as to his fitness, either as a candidate or the state's chief executive. Our candidate is a sound, careful, successful business man, a thoroughly conscientious gentleman and a staunch and uncompromising Republican of the type which gave this nation the greatest prosperity and prestige it has ever known. Mr. Chapman is a typical Californian, keenly alive to the necessities of this great state and broad-minded and liberal enough to deal with any and all problems which may arise, and be it further

"Resolved, that the Lincoln Republican Club of Orange County earnestly requests all Republicans and Republican organizations of California to consider carefully the splendid character, ability and achievements of the Hon. Charles C. Chapman, and extend a strong appeal for his support throughout the state, believing that his nomination would mean an overwhelming Republican victory in November."

ELECTRIC LIGHT FOR CURE OF TUBERCULOSIS

COPENHAGEN, May 7.—Some remarkable results in the treatment by electric light of "surgical tuberculosis" are announced by Dr. Reyn, head of the Finsen Light Institute. A number of patients who otherwise would have had to undergo operations have been discharged as cured, while many others have shown wonderful improvement.

The treatment consists in placing the patient about a yard's distance in front of an ordinary arc lamp and directing the rays against the affected parts for periods of from fifteen minutes at first to two hours and a half, the length of time being gradually increased from day to day. Dr. Reyn believes that the light cure may also prove useful in cases of lung tuberculosis, but this has not yet been demonstrated.

MAY CONTEST WILL LEAVING $40,000
TO MASONIC LODGE

Fullerton Daily Tribune: It is now believed the will of the late Mrs. J. A. Smith will be contested, as it is stated that her heirs are not satisfied with the division of the property.

A contest may be made on the grounds that Mrs. Smith was not in her right mind at the time she made the will. Property worth over $40,000, including a valuable orange grove at Yorba Linda, was left to the Masonic lodge of Fullerton and to a Masonic lodge back east, and a small amount of cash only was left to Mrs. Smith's relatives.

Mrs. Smith died about three months ago, and her husband passed away about four months ago. Mr. Smith leaving all of his property to his wife, Mrs. Smith made her will a few weeks before her death. The matter of the proposed contest is now being looked into.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were residents of Yorba Linda and Fullerton for many years and had hundreds of friends in this section.

WOMEN'S FADS AND FANCIES

By Margaret Mason

NEW YORK, May 7.—Not only are evening gowns absolutely guileless of even a hint of a sleeve, but even the coats have the habit. Most of the smartest loose wraps and capes and coats are sleeveless and slip their empty armholes over fair feminine arms with all the careless abandon of a perfectly good masculine waistcoat. What is lost at one extremity, however, is now made up at the other for protection petticoats have returned again to the fold or rather to enfold slender ankles in scant white ruffles of sheerest organdy or Paris muslin. They are so narrow and so thin that they neither add bulk to the ankle line nor hide any of it. They quaintly resemble the old style pantalets as they peep out from under the short ruche edged taffeta skirts of the moments and are indeed a far cry from the petticoats of yore.

Indeed, in spite of the fact that they really are petticoats they are never designated as such by the designers and dressmakers but answer the name of underskirts or pantalet frills.

Appropos of not calling a spade a spade you must never make the shocking mistake of calling a separate waist a waist—mercy no, Clarissa, it's a blouse. Whatever is in a name in this case there isn't much in a blouse when it comes to material. Just two layers of chiffon or a single thickness or rather thinness, of bookmuslin hemstitched around the open throat line, down the front and around the plain three-quarter slightly flaring sleeves, makes up some of the chicest new models.

For an ornate touch they rely on a fantastic girdle and gorgeously tinted usually with vestee, cuffs and collar of handkerchief linen promise great popularity for the summer.

Always the belt or girdle plays a striking part in the effective ensemble of the blouse. The favorite Roman stripes are shown in smart shirtings of both silk and madras for the more tailored blouses and those to be worn with the sport skirts arms and coats.

It is no longer a question of "Button, button, who's got the button?" since every woman seems to have every button tacked on to every available space or cranny of some one or two of her summer costumes.

Jet buttons are very smart on frocks and suits of buff toned taffeta, but ball shaped buttons covered in the same taffeta as the gown are the chosen trimming in a straight row down the center of the new tight fitting basque models. Cord buttons are also a favorite garnishment, particularly on voile and other cotton frock material frocks.

Your dress may lack a few little essentials like sleeves or even a whole waist for in many instances a girdle extended above the bust line is as good as a regular bodice any evening but let it lack buttons and it is sartorially damned.

Leaping lightly from buttons to buttonholes it is interesting to note that the bound and corded button holes are now things of the past and the good old honest-to-goodness normal buttonhole worked in thread has returned to its own. Plackets also now have their proper place and appear as they should according to best placket regulations in the middle of the back of the skirt. Even if there is no seam there, a slit is made for the placket any way so anxious is it to return to its old home after a wandering life for the last two or three seasons and transitory settlements in the front of the skirt at the side or on one hip.

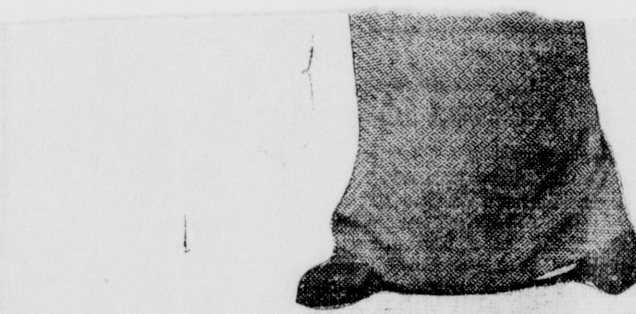

It is a sad blow to all 1914 Cinderellas that loud, pointed vamps are the rage in the slipper line. It seems rather perverse that Americans should take up the long pointed slipper and shoe just when it has been cast aside by the smart Parisian for the dainty short vamps of the erstwhile American footwear. Brought into even more prominence by the shortwater skirts the up-to-date shod foot will prove exclusively that it is shoes rather than brains that make large understandings.

HERE IS MILADY'S SPRING WALKING SUIT

Fashion has decreed this jacket suit for walking this spring. It is very long and very narrow at the bottom. In fact, walking in it must be done with care, for the step will not be within six inches of a natural stride. Of course, this makes walking more difficult and thereby causes more exercise. But the maker of it calls it an "ideal walking suit."

SPECIAL WASHINGTON LETTER

By Burton K. Standish

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Uncle Sam is keeping continuous guard against invasion. The enemies against which a trained corps of men are fighting are animal, bird, insect and vegetable pests. Mrs. Charles W. Morse, whose pet ants were adjudged "undesirable" was the most recent sufferer by the regulation. The most classic of all examples is the English sparrow. But since 1905, the government has strong weapons in quarantine laws passed that year, to prevent introduction of undesirable living things.

The most destructive pest ever introduced into the United States is the gypsy moth. It was in 1869 that Trouvelot, an astronomer at Harvard University and an amateur entomologist of note, conceived the idea of breeding a hardy worm which would revolutionize the silk industry. He imported some gypsy moths from France, expecting to cross them with some native species. One day he left a window in his Medford home open. When he returned a mass of eggs laid by his gypsy visitors had disappeared—apparently it had blown out of the window.

At this point Trouvelot's experiments ceased. But their results did not. They are still with us and have cost the country millions of dollars. New England has been the hardest sufferer. For twenty years the gypsy moth attracted no attention. People of Medford, Mass., wondered at the destruction of their trees, but the damage remained local. Then, suddenly, the pest spread. Since then bitter warfare has been waged against it, and the victory is not yet won. The New England states alone spend spend thousands in the fight.

A great many people innocently bring home curios, plants and animals that are active agents of mischief. Hundreds of people have attempted to bring into the country as a curiosity the Australian flying fox. Unknown in the United States these overgrown bats, which oftentimes measure five feet across the wings are Australia's greatest pests. They ruin many orchards in their habitat.

The mongoose is another creature which individuals persist in trying to import. Rudyard Kipling wrote interestingly about Rikki-tikki-tava, in

"The Jungle Book," but the animal isn't by any means a charming, nice mannered creature. In India he is valuable because he kills snakes. But he is also partial to chickens, young pigs, kids, lambs, puppies, kittens and certain vegetables and fruits. He is banned from America. Once in a while, however, individuals succeed in slipping one of the animals in. A Cape Cod farmer who had lost scores of chickens finally killed an animal who was apparently responsible for the damage. There was a great hue and cry about the new species of skunk he had discovered, but finally the authorities identified the little beast as a mongoose. How he got in nobody has yet found out.

Jamaica is alive with the pest, introduced by some misguided individual who thought they would rid the island of rats which caused havoc in the sugar cane fields. It was in 1872 that four males and five females were introduced. Their number increased amazingly and in 1890 the government began fighting them. Still another instance of pests was the introduction of rabbits in Australia. They were originally brought to the island to furnish early settlers with sport. How expensive that sport is didn't appear until the bunnies had overrun the island. The government has spent millions fighting the pest, without having apparently reduced the number in the least.

The great danger about importing any kind of animal or bird or insect is that environment may change them completely. They may be perfectly proper things in their native haunts but horribly mischievous in their new surroundings. Biologists can't predict their habits. It is a fact, however, that a great majority of the pests introduced here have been vastly more destructive in America than they were abroad. They are freed from natural enemies—the natural "balance" is lost—they find a longer summer breeding season and the larger scale on which American agriculture is conducted does not permit as readily of restrictive measures as do the limited holdings and intensive cultivation of Europe. Europe, it should be mentioned, has also suffered from pests sent to its shores from America, although for some curious reason native American pests do not seem to thrive in their transplanted state abroad. One notable exception, however, is the phylloxera, a grape vine disease, introduced in France in 1859, which has devastated vineyards there. The San Jose scale, a pest of the first magnitude, was brought into California by an ardent horticulturist from China, on some Chinese apple trees. Incidentally, it is curious to note that from California the pest recrossed the Pacific and in its invigorated form, created havoc in Japan, where it had always been present, but never had given real trouble.

Secretary Bryan found himself confronted with the quarantine rule when customs officials barred his llama, which was excluded with six others, because they were suffering from the mange and also because of the fear they might bring with them the dread feet and mouth disease.

PEACE TREATY SIGNED WITH AUSTRIA BY U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Secretary Bryan and Dr. Constantin T. Dumba, Austria-Hungarian ambassador, signed yesterday a convention extending for another period of five years the limited arbitration treaty between the United States and Austria-Hungary.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

A crate of the first cantaloupes of the season from Imperial Valley was received on the Ninth-street market yesterday. One or two diminutive melons also reached the public market. The valley melons are now being shipped east in small quantities, but the season of active distribution will not begin for several weeks.

There was a good supply of cherries, which in most instances met with a rather active demand. Quotations on the fruit were 12½ to 17½ cents. Loquats were at 46¢ per bushel. The supply is keeping pace with the demand, if anything, there is likely to be a small oversupply. A few apricots are selling at fancy prices. Some come in from Arizona, and others from Coachella Valley.

Strawberries and blackberries are stronger, but raspberries are easy. The first mentioned are selling around 4 cents a basket, while blackberries bring 8 to 9 cents, and raspberries 7 cents a basket.

Considerable asparagus is received, but the demand for the vegetable continues good. Rhubarb is selling around $1 a box, and is in good supply. Green corn was reduced to 96 cents a dozen. Egg plant was somewhat cheaper, 14 to 15 cents a pound. Wax beans were off 7 to 9 cents a pound. The price of butter and eggs were off 1 cent each yesterday. The decline is not regarded as significant of any particular conditions.

After Dinner Chats With Apricot Growers

By J. G. Berneike, M. D.

The present and most pronounced purpose of my chats has been accomplished. It is reliably rumored that good offers are being made to growers for pits and dried fruit. Offers of 8 cents to 10½ cents more recently are reported from the north; of 10 cents in Orange county. I certainly hope that no apricot grower in Orange county will be foolish enough to sell for less than 8 cents. But if there is any such, he will find no difficulty in finding a score of buyers to relieve him of his fruit in a hurry. Quotations in the California Fruit Grower for the 1914 crop are such that the grower may look for about 10 cents per lb. net. Undoubtedly the shortage in the prune crop is helping to raise the price of apricots.

There is no doubt about there being a good apricot crop in our county and in the state, but not a record crop. There is no doubt but what under such conditions in former years, before the associations were in the field, our growers would have fallen over each other to sell at 6 to 7 cents a pound. That they were able last year to realize 10 to 12 cents per lb., and that they will be able this year to realize about 10 cents per lb., is due solely to the fact that some of the growers have organized, and they are bringing information to the growers, together with backbone.

These organized growers are putting all the unorganized growers under moral obligation. Will the latter respond? Will they join the union of their class? Or will they continue to hold back in distrust and selfishness? I like the "Farmers' Trust." The farmers that trust one another to do their business collectively, and no longer trust the speculators and gamblers to do their business for them. One of our local packers said last year, that there had been less speculation in apricots than there had been before. So it strikes me that even our local buyers are benefitted by the fact that speculative buyers are ruled out, and the buying is limited to what may be called legitimate business. The local buyer gets just as good a commission when the grower is paid a good price as he does when the grower is paid a starvation price, and he does not create ill feeling in the grower.

The eastern buyers are benefitted when the price is stable. And as long as the price is fair and reasonable there is not the least difficulty in disposing even of a bumper crop.

The directors of the Orange County Dried Fruit Association have signed the incorporation papers of the new organization, which will be known as the Orange County Dried Fruit Association, and the document is on its way to the Secretary of State. I think of this as signing the Declaration of Independence of the apricot growers, and it will carry with it a great significance as was the organization of our association four years ago.

By the way, one of the real estate agents said to me the other day that for the last five years the apricot growers have received a good price for their fruit, and that there is quite an appreciation in apricot orchard property. Now it is not five years, but only four years, since this has been the case, and it dates back exactly to the year 1910 when the associations in Orange county and Ventura county were started.

What the separate associations accomplished in a small way will be accomplished in a much larger way by the union of associations in the Exchange. A few weeks ago I told you there were twenty-two, today there are twenty-four, and before you read this there will be at least twenty-five.

Wherever believes in associations must logically believe in the union of associations such as we have in the Exchange. And it was therefore no surprise to find how strongly the movement toward reorganization and affiliation with the Exchange took hold of our membership.

The reorganization was necessary only to conform to the state law applying to co-operative non-profit associations. All the associations belonging to the Exchange are organized under this law. Our Dried Fruit Association was organized under an earlier law, and this fact prevented our affiliation. This obstacle has now been overcome and we look forward to greater success. One of the immediate benefits of the Exchange is that we are kept in constant touch with all other associations in the state, that we get quick and reliable information about crop conditions elsewhere, that we are always promptly informed concerning market conditions, that we do not compete against each other. It will be possible for the individual associations to cut down overhead expenses of management, because of one central selling agency. Thus we can give to the grower the benefit of economy. The Exchange will be able to come nearer the consumer through the parcel post, as soon as this becomes feasible. An association could not accomplish this cheaply enough, because it will require expensive advertising, and the establishment of parcels post agents in the large cities, to whom fruit can be sent in carload lots to be distributed by parcel post in the first and second zones. Thus the consumer can and should be benefited by the associations of producers.

The idea has been advanced of sending a man east to sell our dried fruit direct to the consumer. The aim is good, but the thing won't work. Whoever has tried canvassing or peddling an honest article will say: "Hands off." People will buy fake articles from a fakir, but honest goods from an honest peddler? That is different. Very few men make their salt at the business. So that method of selling the dried fruit crop of California is out of the question. It would be a wasteful method at best.

The Exchange will handle so large a volume of business as will command a large influence in the business world. This will enable it to get low interest rates on advances made to growers, and in a measure will serve as a rural credit system. It will command a wider market, and will help in a better distribution of dried fruits and opening up of new markets. It will go a long way to help determine a price which shall be fair to the producer and move the crop with reasonable time, and then to steady this price.

We may expect these helpful tendencies to exert themselves more and more with the growth of the Exchange, and with the experience gained. The growers themselves are the directors of the Exchange, and they have the moulding of it in their own hands.

NEWSY NEWS FROM NEW YORK

By Carlton Ten Eyck

NEW YORK, May 7.—Ask anyone you know if he could get along without a telephone in his home and it's ten to one but that he'd answer in the negative. Then ask any business man you meet, whether you know him or not how long his business would last if he didn't have a telephone. You'd probably be surprised if you hit one man in a thousand by mere chance, and he replied:

"Why, I don't have a telephone in my place of business. It would ruin me in no time."

And there you are. It's a true story. There are some several hundred of more men in big New York who quake every time they hear the word telephone. They are men who conduct studios of dramatic instruction. One such individual, a few days ago, told why he wouldn't have a telephone.

"You see, it's this way," he explained. "The ten or twelve hours a day that I am in my studio giving lessons, are all busy hours. The work of instructing would-be actors and actresses, and coaching those who have made their name, is not like other work. In other lines, a man can very easily drop his work for the nonce, pick up the telephone for a chat, and then resume his work where he had left off."

"There's just the rub. In my work, I have to carry through what is started. Imagine getting a pupil into the proper atmosphere of some strongly emotional piece of acting and just at the crisis, suddenly the telephone bell jingles. I can't say, 'Hold that pose and keep your feelings just as they are for a few minutes, please.' It would not only ruin the scene, but would throw a damper on the pupil whether novice or professional, that couldn't be remedied. Then, too, a student of the drama, one who really wants to make his living by acting, must learn early that the work on the stage is real WORK. The hardest part of that work is regularity. You know, any other business man, excepting a newspaper reporter (and few reporters are good business men) can get to his office a little late and speed up to make up for lost time. Not so with an actor. Imagine one rushing onto the stage even two minutes late after his cue had come, and hurriedly saying his lines fast enough to catch up with the others."

"Well, the point is this: The dramatic student MUST learn punctuality and regularity in attendance. If he knows there is a telephone at the studio he will be more likely to call up to say he will be a few minutes late, or that he can't get around today and to ask that the lesson be postponed. That's the reason I wouldn't have a telephone about the place. I've had experience. Telephones are essential to almost every other line of work, but they are a hindrance with teachers of dramatic art."

In the way. They cost a lot of money to take care of. There were so many of them that when one of the little tots died, nobody cared very much excepting perhaps the mother or father. Even these two, many times were glad baby had gotten away from the East Side's sordidness and misery. But now it's different. Babies are now a source of income.

They are "rented out" to those who have none, for a few hours at a time, as "property" in the tragedies of the East Side. The authorities, since making the discovery a few days ago have tried to stop it. They may succeed; but here's the story:

Chief Magistrate McAdoo, after a dozen or more minor cases against women had been called, began to wonder where all the babies, each one had, came from. He had noticed one, a big-eyed, pudgy little girl in particular, among seven that one defendant had with her when she appeared to answer to a charge of keeping an unsanitary home. The woman didn't deny that her kitchen and bedrooms and other rooms were unsanitary. She meekly and dolefully pointed to the flock of children who hung to her skirts and said they kept her so busy she had little time to do any fancy cleaning about her house. The chief magistrate let her off with a suspended sentence. Imagine the judge's supreme surprise a few minutes later, when another woman appeared on a somewhat similar charge with a large flock of children at her skirts and one big-eyed, pudgy little girl in her arms. "Is that your child," thundered the court. "No sir," said the woman, actually startled into the truth.

An investigation showed that the child was not the daughter of the first woman. That one big-eyed, pudgy little girl had no mother. Her father "let her out," it was discovered, as scores of other parents did with their children, to a man, who in turn furnished a dozen children if wanted, to any woman or man who had to answer to a minor charge, and who wanted to prevail on the sympathies of the court through the children, and had the money to hire them.
